Factional Lines Being Crossed in Delegates Battle

Vandenberg Candidate in Eighth District Makes Bid to Taft Backers

—(P)—More evidence was at hand today to show that factional as well as party lines are being crossed in the red-hot fight to elect Wisconsin delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

The latest indication came from the maneuvering of Winford H. Johnson of Kiel, running in the Eighth congressional district. He is pledged to support Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a radio address at Green Bay, Johnson made a bid last night for the votes of those favorable to the candidacy of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio. (There is no Taft delegate slate entered in the Wisconsin primary to be held April 2.)

"Mr. Taft is the second choice of myself and many others of our Vandenberg ticket," Johnson said. "And if the occasion should possibly arise that Senator Vandenberg withdraws or it becomes apparent he could not be nominated, a good deal of the support of the Wisconsin delegation would go to the Senator from Ohio."

No "Deal" Made

A spokesman for the Vandenberg for President club of Wisconsin said several other Vandenberg-pledged candidates were making similar pleas, but declared they were doing so on their own initiative. The club, he asserted, has entered into no deal whereby Taft adherents would vote for Vandenberg candidates in return for promises of support for the Ohioan should Vandenberg release them during the convention session.

Meanwhile, there was considerable speculation as to which group of delegates would receive the bulk of the Progressive party vote, since the LaFollette followers have no party delegate ticket.

One report was that an understanding had been reached between Progressive leaders and supporters of the Roosevelt-Farley Democratic delegate slate backed by Charles E. Broughton, Democratic national committeeman. Broughton's only comment was "I hope we do get it," referring to the Progressive vote.

Leaders of a rival group of Democratic candidates, pledged to support President Roosevelt for re-nomination, or his choice of a successor should he decline, attempted to make capital of Republican Governor Heil's announcement that he would seek reelection.

Keller's Comment

Gustave J. Keller of Appleton, candidate for delegate-at-large in opposition to the Roosevelt-Farley slate, said in a campaign statement: "Everyone in Wisconsin realizes that Broughton and his political bedfellows were responsible for the coalition which resulted in Heil's election. The two conservative groups got together in the election (of 1938) to defeat Phil LaFollette and other Progressives and now they come running to the Progressives for help in the coming election."

A challenge issued by Keller inviting Broughton to meet him in debate at Madison March 26 brought the following reply from the Sheboygan publisher last night: "May I say to Mr. Keller that my time between now and April 2 will be taken up with a most important matter, urging the election of the full Roosevelt slate of delegates nominated at the statewide conference of Democrats held at Wisconsin Rapids on Feb. 12. The voters of Wisconsin are not concerned about personalities, but they are about the Roosevelt delegates. Personalities that would divide the liberal vote will only tend to injure the cause of Roosevelt, and that no New Dealer can encourage."

Against "Mud-Slinging"

"May I ask you, Mr. Keller, to leave mud-slinging to those who would profit by dividing the Roosevelt vote, thereby encouraging the conservative (Vice President) Garner in his race for delegates?"

Broughton also asserted in a separate statement that the announcement by Postmaster General James A. Farley that he was definitely a candidate for the presidency would not alter the position of the "Roosevelt-Farley" slate of delegate candidates.

"The Wisconsin Rapids conference passed a resolution aimed at drafting Roosevelt for a third term," Broughton said. "In a separate resolution, Farley was commended for his work in the party and New Deal and the addition of his name on the ballot was in recognition of his work."

The pace of Thomas Dewey's Wisconsin campaign quickened last night when Colonel Roosevelt, Jr., urging an audience at Superior to support Dewey's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, fired a blast at President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

He accused the president of "deliberately trying to twist our present form of government into another form, patterned after some in Europe."

Doesn't Begrudge Taxes of $294,000

Dallas —(P)—Thomas J. Watson of New York doesn't begrudge paying $294,000 income taxes on the $442,000 salary he received last year.

"I don't compare my net salary with my gross," the president of International Business Machines corporation told interviewers. "I compare it with the $8 a week I made when I started out as a salesman in a store in Painted Post, N. Y."

Hull-Farley Race Again Discussed At U. S. Capital

Most Senators Believe Roosevelt Won't Be Candidate for Third Term

Washington —(P)—Secretary Ickes, who advocates a third term for President Roosevelt, said today that no Democratic presidential candidate now in the field could control enough delegates to win the nomination.

He included Vice President Garner, Federal Security Administrator McNutt and Postmaster General Farley.

Ickes made the one sentence statement to his press conference in reply to a question, and declined to elaborate.

In reply to another question, he decided to give an opinion as to whether the Democratic national convention would draft President Roosevelt.

"You might want a girl to marry you," he parried, "but that is no assurance she would have you."

Ickes was questioned also regarding Farley's unreserved announcement of his candidacy yesterday.

"Every American citizen has that right," he said, "and Farley is a fine man."

Washington —(P)—Talk of a Hull-Farley Democratic ticket was revived on Capitol Hill today as discussion of the postmaster general's unreserved announcement of his candidacy ran the gamut of interpretations.

Most senators expressed the opinion that the cabinet officer, in saying flatly his name would be presented to the Democratic national convention, did so believing that President Roosevelt would not be a candidate for a third term.

A few, talking privately, interpreted the announcement as placing Farley in the same category as Vice President Garner, a candidate whether the president runs or not. Farley would not clear up this point in talking to reporters yesterday at Springfield, Mass.

At the White House today, Stephen Early, a presidential secretary, said there was "no reaction" to Farley's statement.

Moreover, Early told newsmen he was "quite certain nothing is going to be said from here that would in any way inject the president into the Pennsylvania primary battle."

Senator Guffey and Walter A. Jones of Pittsburgh are seeking the nomination in the primary scheduled April 23.

One influential New Deal senator from the east, as close to the chief executive as anyone in congress, said he did not know what was in the president's mind but he thought Farley had acted in the belief Mr. Roosevelt wanted to retire.

Garner forces expressed private elation over Farley's action. They favored the opinion that Farley was in the race to stay, third term candidacy or not.

"In No Combination"

But any hope which the Garnerites might have held for a coalition of forces to "stop Roosevelt" appeared to have been blasted by Farley's statement that he was "in no combination with anybody."

One southern senator, preferring not to be quoted by name, said Farley told him he had obtained the distinct impression at a White House conference that the president wanted to retire, but had not heard the chief executive say he would not accept the nomination if tendered.

Some senators, in support of their argument that Farley was not out to back Mr. Roosevelt, noted that the Democratic chairman had not said whether his name would be presented to the convention for president or vice president.

Should the president decide not to run, they said, Farley would be in a good position for the second place nomination if the head of the ticket came from the west or border states.

GERMAN NAVAL BASE FEELS STING OF BRITISH BOMBERS

In reprisal for the German bombing of the British naval base at Scapa Flow, British planes staged a prolonged raid on the German island seaplane base of Sylt. Waves of bombers dumped their deadly loads in one of the biggest air raids of the war. Eye witnesses on a nearby Danish island reported 83 earth-jarring blasts. This Associated Press map indicates the location of Sylt.

enough to accommodate all the swimmers and I want to see it built in 1940, not in 1950."

The junior chamber of commerce tried to get something started last fall, he said, "and they deserve a lot of credit. But I've asked everyone what they think about it and everyone seems to agree that the city should build the pool and finance it. The Jaces tried to get the money by subscription but in a city of the size of Appleton, that is impossible; it's the city's place to build the pool."

Stumbling Block

Alderman Thompson, who has weathered many arguments about swimming pools, agreed that now is the time to start agitation for a pool and suggested that the council consider the site first because "that always has been the stumbling block."

"We ought to build a pool," he said. "We've put it off too long now. Why I've been on committees for years when we checked all the pools in the state. This is a good idea and we ought to start now."

Alderman Keller reminded the council that last fall money was spent to dredge the Lutz park lagoon for a swimming pool. He said the council should improve the beach in Lutz park and open the lagoon for swimming "to see how close it comes to filling the bill" before building an artificial pool.

Alderman Bogan countered: "I've yet to find anyone who calls that a swimming pool. It's a swimming hole, that's what it is. You know how the water was last year and it'll be the same this year."

Alderman Falatic favored an artificial pool and Alderman Van der Heyden worried about the money and suggested that the council find out how much it would cost before going ahead.

Select Site First

Alderman Thompson told the council the proper procedure was to decide to build and then select the site because "that's where you will run into trouble. We should decide the location first so we might as well face it."

Alderman Grignon favored a pool but agreed that the sticker would be the selection of a site. He also said that Lutz lagoon could be sanded to relieve the pressure in the present pool.

A proposal to buy the William Knuth farm, Calumet county, to extend the municipal golf course was referred back to the park board after Judge C. A. Hansen, Milwaukee county judge, offered enough land for nine additional holes within the city at half the assessed valuation.

Judge Hansen told the council that he owns about 34 acres of land that he would guarantee options on enough property on the opposite side of the course to bring the acreage up to 53.9 acres which he

New sewers were authorized for the same streets and the council approved a committee recommendation to grade and gravel Reid drive and Connell street when the ground settles. The extension of Reid drive and Connell street to the west boundary of Rivercrest addition also will be graded.

Sen. Wiley Asks Campaign to Put Men Back to Work

Suggests Drums Roll for A Peace-Time Mobilization to Colors

Washington —(P)—Senator Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said today that American recovery from depression must come along a "hard uphill pull" requiring a resurgence of individual fighting American patriotism.

Urging that the "phony doctrine of dependence on government" should be scrapped because it was an easy road leading to destruction, the senator in a statement said Americans must return to their self-reliance.

"In electing President Roosevelt the nation got the doctrines which the socialist candidate, Norman Thomas, preached," Wiley said. "If America entered a war tomorrow, Wiley said, it could send 2,000,000 men overseas in one year and on the same basis it can employ 2,000,000 men to save the nation while at peace."

"Let the drum roll for a peacetime mobilization to the colors," he suggested.

"If we made a liberty loan campaign out of unemployment—we could go over the top. There are almost 30,000 firms in America employing more than five men each. Every one could employ at least one additional man. Some of them could employ 550 additional men."

"Carry the campaign to every home. Let a dozen housewives band together to pay a decent wage to one odd-jobs man. Give them a poster for their window bearing the legend 'I gave a man a job.'"

Instead of having the government propaganda agencies concentrating on propagating themselves in office, let them concentrate on whipping up a patriotic fever; to get behind a campaign to kill American unemployment."

Average Woman Spends More For Stockings Than Dresses

Washington —(P)—The next time you see a pair of silk stockings going tripping down the street, ponder this brother: Many a woman spends more on them than on necessities.

All the figures were based on a 1934-36 survey, with the family income of those questioned averaging $1,524 a year.

In 19 of 24 key industries employment of women has increased, the survey showed, and there have been faster pay envelopes in 17 out of the 24. When the report got around to industries where there had been declines, it found the hosiery business off 4 per cent, and the dress business off 14 per cent.

Shoes are the biggest item—$7.85. Dresses come third, a mere $6. The working girl spends a little more, especially if she is a clerical worker, the homebody much less.

The mere male provides no such startling statistics. His big moment comes every two years, when he gets a new suit, price $24. Annually he spends $6 less for haberdashery, etc., than women do for their accessories.

Bicycle License Plates Purchase Is Authorized

Village Board Sanctions Order for 175 at Little Chute

Little Chute—The village board at an adjourned meeting for March on Tuesday evening authorized the license committee to purchase 175 bicycle license plates. Under the village ordinance as revised last year, every owner of a bicycle must register it with the village marshal by July 1 each year. The board has instructed the marshal to enforce this ordinance strictly. License plates will be available within the next few weeks and a fee of 25 cents will be charged.

Martin Lamers, president of the Little Chute Men's association appeared before the board to get permission for the use of the village hall for a meeting of farmers sponsored jointly by the county agent and the local business men's association. About 1,000 farmers from the surrounding area are expected to attend this meeting which will be held about the first of April.

The village clerk was instructed to prepare and to order ballots for the municipal election to be held on the second of April. A supply of sample ballots will be available as in past years. The annual treasurer's report was submitted to the board and approved. It showed a total of $38,714.15 collected in real estate and personal property taxes, and total of $2,201.21 in tax delinquencies.

The county tax for 1939 in the amount of $11,869.76 has been paid to the county and the balance will be used for municipal and school purposes. A committee was appointed to confer with the officials of Kimberly and Combined Locks for making arrangements for a joint fireworks display on July 4 as was done last year. The village will place an order for trees and shrubbery and anyone wishing to buy at wholesale prices can place this order through any of the village officials.

OBSERVES ONE - HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY

Charles Gosha, above, Appleton's last living Civil war veteran, today is observing his one-hundredth birthday. One of the highlights of his long life, he said, were the months he spent with the northern forces in the Civil war. He is active, keeps up with current events and anticipates the coming summer when he can go fishing on Lake Winnebago. He lives with his daughter, Mrs. John Gerrits, 111 E. College avenue.

Charles Gosha, Civil War Veteran, 100 Years Old Today

BY L. J. DERUS

Charles Gosha, Appleton's last living Civil war veteran, looked back on a hundred years today. Feeling "chippier" on his one-hundredth birthday, he welcomed the arrival of warmer weather because he will be able to spend more time out-of-doors.

He is active, despite his years and would rather putter about at something than just sit away the time. He doesn't like to nap during the day but once in a while he catches himself doing, he says.

The war veteran has a remarkable memory and recalls many outstanding and interesting dates without hesitation. Joining the Civil war when he was 23 years old, he spent 21 months in the army. For a time he was an acting sergeant.

"They wanted me to be a drummer, but you can't handle a gun."

when your loaded down with a drum," he stated in recalling action with the northern forces. "We were fighting almost all of the time, but I never got wounded. I was shell-shocked, though."

"A Bit Lonely" Mr. Gosha finds being a hundred years old a bit lonely, he says, and he looks forward to the summer when he can spend his time on Lake Winnebago doing some fishing. He lives with his daughter, Mrs. John Gerrits, 111 E. College avenue, who has a cottage at the lake.

Coming to Wisconsin from Stockbridge, Mass. when he was 4 years old, he lived in a number of places in the state. He was a carpenter by trade and in his early years was a shipbuilder. He recalled that he helped to build many business buildings in Appleton.

Hunting and fishing were his favorite sports when he was "a bit younger." He claims he caught the largest pickerel in Lake Winnebago, one that weighed 20 pounds after the head was cut off.

"I often went deer hunting and sometimes got as many as three in a day," he said.

Mr. Gosha said he had planned to be a doctor and was in Pittsfield Medical Institute in Massachusetts when he answered the call to arms.

He was one of Appleton's first rural mail carriers and delivered mail in the vicinity of Twelve Corners.

Mr. Gosha keeps interested in the world of today, frowns on the war troubles in Europe and doesn't believe in dictators.

Rabbi to Address College Students

Charles Shulman, Jewish Leader, Will Speak Tuesday

Rabbi Charles Shulman of the North Shore congregation, Glencoe, Ill., will address Lawrence college students at convocation at 11:20 Tuesday morning in Memorial chapel. The topic of his talk will be "The Role of Religion in Democratic Society".

A graduate of Ohio Northern university law school, University of Chicago, and the Hebrew Union college, Rabbi Shulman was spiritual leader of congregations in Johnstown, Pa., and Wheeling, W. V., before coming to Glencoe.

A traveler and author, he has written "The Problems of The Jews in The Contemporary World" and "Europe's Conscience in Decline". In recent years, he has made several visits to Europe and the Near East.

Teachers Defeat Business Men at Donkey Basketball

Animals Get All the Cheering While Riders Furnish the Laughs

New London—Everybody had a good time at Washington high school gym last night as the high school faculty beat the business men, 20 to 18, in a donkey basketball game. The game was close but the faculty carried a slight edge until the final tie. Then Len Warner won for the teachers with an overtime bucket. "A" might be expected to catch Harold Isaacson, who was high scorer for the business men with five buckets but that was largely because he played safety man under the bucket. S. Perinetti and H. H. Helms, R. M. Shortell and Ralph Hanson scored equally all the scoring for the business men.

The ten booted donkeys got all the cheering and their riders provided the laughs. Starting line-ups showed R. M. Shortell, "A" Johnson, Harold Zang, "A" Narth, Tom Fitzgerald, "A" Zang, "A" Potts, "H. H. Helms on "Kate Smith," Ralph Hanson on "Mike West," George Schriver on "Gracie Allen," M. S. Zahrt on "Joe Penner," L. M. Warner on "Ginger Rogers," Earl Isaacson on "Bob Burns," and Harold Isaacson on "Shirley Temple." Other riders were Grace Charlesworth for the teachers and Les Werner and Gil Werberg for the business men.

Tricky Costumes

The game was a riot as players had to dismount without dropping the reins to pick up the ball and had to mount again before passing. And there was some brilliant passing. The teachers came out in football helmets at first but discarded those. The most appropriate costume was worn by Ralph Hanson with an old red football jersey and a cowboy hat. Tom Fitzgerald rugged up a carroll on a stick to coax his mount where he would but referees with electric prodders were more successful in producing action.

A special attraction was the appearance of "Jane Withers," a 10-weeks' old mascot, who roamed freely around the gym during the game. Jane was a donkey, too.

In the preliminary the Plymouth 2890 defeated the Edison 1642 in a regulation game by a score of 31 to 26. Paced by the former high school stars, Gordon Meiklejohn and Wally Hammerberg and Tip Krohn, the Plymouth led all the way. Don Hoier and Leon Polaski were high scorers for the Edison.

Cristys Take Two In Business Loop

Defeat Leading Greenlaw Squad in Odd Game; Wells Hits 255

New London—G. A. Wells hit scores of 225 and 366 for Cristys in the Business Men's Major League at Prah's alleys last night as the team took two games from the leading Greenlaw's Garage Meiklejohn's. Cristys kept tie with the winners for second place by taking two from the Mobilists. Walter Stewart cracked 205 and 554 and Earl Meiklejohn 553 for the Clothes with Clarence Laux pacing his cellar quint with 529.

Girls Club League

Milly Carter banged a 192 line as the leading Carter-Hanson Studios trimmed Daves Service two. Mrs. Dave Vanderveer spilled a 487 total for the losers. The New London Constructors won two from Prah's News.

Ladies League

Mrs. Henry Lippold chalked up a 189 line and 496 series for the Orchids in the Ladies Afternoon League. The team lost two games to the Pansies, the latter paced by Mrs. Ralph Mortenson with counts of 164 and 499. The top place Dantes collected two games from the trailing Roses.

Llewellyn Best Seller Among New Books Added at Library

New London—A newcomer to the best-seller list, "How Green Was My Valley," by Richard Llewellyn, has been added with other new books to the New London Public library this week. It is the story of a large mining family in South Wales, the Morgans, and their friends and neighbors, told by one of the youngest of the children now in his sixties.

The novel, "Come Spring," by Ben Ames Williams has its setting in the fall of 1776 in a new town springing up on the banks of the Maine river. Marna Robbins, 19, has her heart set on Joel Adams, who has been fighting Burkoyne, and how she wins him despite his bachelor tendencies is the root of the story.

A novel of deep emotion and good humor, of delicate characterization and description, is Frances Frost's story of the fabled and kindly old sinner, Uncle Snowball, in the book of the same name.

In "Sinfully Rich," author Hubert Footner presents an aged character, Flora Ware, possessed of sixty million dollars, trying to outdo the New York debutantes at the age of 67 and getting away with it—until one morning she is found dead, her body stuffed into a cabinet and robbed of a fortune in jewels.

E. Phillips Oppenheim's newest mystery story is "General Bessley's Puzzle Box."

Plans Outlined For Poppy Day

Mrs. Arthur Steenbock Named Drive Chairman at Clintonville

Clintonville—Plans for the annual poppy day were outlined at the monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall. Mrs. Arthur Steenbock was appointed poppy chairman. The little flowers which are made by disabled war veterans, will be sold throughout the city on Saturday, May 25.

The auxiliary unit made its annual donation of $10 for the purchase of children's books at the Finney public library. This amount is given each year as a community service project. Miss Jane E. Kelly, local librarian, was a guest at the meeting and gave reviews of several new books recently placed in circulation at the library.

The program also included vocal duets by Betty Spiegel and Lucille Winkel, with Alice Simonds as the accompanist.

Members of the auxiliary spent most of the evening sewing carpet rags, which will be sent to the veterans' hospital at Wood, Wis. to be woven into rugs as a part of their occupational program.

Plans were made for a series of benefit card parties to be given at the homes of members during the next few weeks. Boy scouts of the American Legion troop thanked the auxiliary for the volley ball and net recently given to them for use at their scout meetings at the armory. The evening closed with the serving of lunch by a committee composed of Mrs. J. H. Stein, Mrs. H. E. Sanford, Mrs. Earl Moldenhauer, Mrs. Albert Fritz and Mrs. Arthur Long.

Mrs. W. T. Luedke, Waupaca county president, announced that a county meeting of the American Legion auxiliary units will be held in this city Wednesday, April 3.

The circulation department of the Appleton Post-Crescent is represented in Clintonville by James Bohr, 46 Main street. Orville C. F. Subscribers may be left with him. Subscribers missed by carriers should call Mr. Bohr telephone 5871 before 7 p. m. of the films were taken at the New York world's fair and others were taken at a recent snow removal contest at Houghton, Mich. The FWD truck won first place among twelve contestants.

About thirty-five members and guests were present at a St. Patrick's party given by the Central Circle of the Congregational Dorcas society Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. B. Dodge on Anne street. The program consisted of a declamation, "The First Day at the Kindergarten" by Gloria Black; the declamation "My Contour, tis of thee," by Betty Lemke and two vocal solos, "Mother Macchree" and "Pirate Dreams" by Betty Spiegel with piano accompaniment by Marjorie Stieg. Games and contests were played, with prizes going to Mrs. Anna Johnson, Mrs. Gertrude Schurr and Mrs. Harry Isaacson. The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. T. A. Patterson and Mrs. Earl Smith. A covered-dish luncheon concluded the afternoon.

An 800-acre botanical garden being developed near Phoenix Ariz. will be the only one of its kind in the world, housing several thousand exclusively desert plants.

Hope Fades for Early Peace To Settle European Problems

Washington—It appears less likely than ever that peace, or any substantial moves in that direction, will result from the European scouting trip which Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles has just completed for President Roosevelt.

This Holy week brings deepening gloom. Sacrifices on the part of all the peoples of Europe seem decreed. Civilization must turn to the savagery of the jungle to save itself, and with some question whether it will survive in the forms which modern Europe has known.

Talk of an "Easter peace" is described by the White House as empty. That is a reliable signal as to the direction which affairs in Europe are taking under a smoke screen of peace rumors. The "all-out" war which everyone on both sides seems almost inescapably now, Stephen T. Early, press secretary at the White House, said that on the basis of "authoritative reports" to this government there seemed to be no foundation for rumors in the European press which purport to give an authoritative basis for peace. His remarks may be considered as having been made at the direction of President Roosevelt.

From the Allied point of view particularly, affairs which have taken a turn for the worse. There is every indication that a deal is being made which will lay a vastly enlarged and strengthened axis of dictators down across the heart of Europe. Italy belligerents and in a position indirectly to draw goods through the British blockade to some extent.

Germany is not considering at this time any peace terms which would weaken her position. Any settlement which Hitler would accept at this time would be one which would recognize his conquests and his improved position on the continent. The Allies are in no mood to yield to such terms, though knowing how hard the alternative will be, how much in lives and national treasure it is going to cost.

This administration, while technically neutral, is sympathetic to the Allied cause and is not likely to urge peace terms that would merely recognize the gains Hitler has made. President Roosevelt's denunciation of the peace terms proposed on Finland indicates his position with regard to the German conquests.

May be Move to Nullify Propaganda

Possibly one purpose in having Secretary Early discount current peace talk was to take the force out of any proposals that may come from the axis side in the immediate future, and to nullify their propaganda effect. The White House statement and Prime Minister Chamberlain's "fight on" speech to the house of commons were made simultaneously.

Later on the same day Mr. Roosevelt vigorously defended the policy of selling American warplanes to "whoever can come and get them"—meaning the Allies. For our own national defense, one of the most important things in airplane production capacity. That Mr. Roosevelt feels, is more important than the actual number of planes on hand. The way to develop airplane capacity is to sell planes. Thus the policy of selling planes to the Allies is rationalized as an aid to our own national defense.

An allied mission is in Washington now attempting to adjust irritations growing out of the British blockade. But more than that may be going on, because the Allies are concerned about shipment of American supplies to Russia across the Pacific. As the axis group becomes stronger through the integration of Russia and Italy into the German war machine, the Allies are pressed to increase their strength. They know we cannot become a party to the war, but they look to the United States to assist them indirectly, and the disposition of this administration is to do so.

Johnson Brands Uproar About Hoover-Miami as Pure Smear

Editor's Note: During Westbrook Pegler's vacation, the daily column by Hugh S. Johnson will be substituted in the Post-Crescent.

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

Washington, D. C.—The political smear artists who are out to get chief G-man Hoover realize that they can't do it on any legitimate charges of inefficiency or ill-doing. The guy is 100 per cent cop and 100 per cent honest. But there is always the weapon of ridicule which is so effective that a man can be hurt by merely hearing his good points mentioned too much—like Aristides who got himself kicked out of Athens partly because some people got tired of hearing him called "The Just." So they call J. Edgar Hoover the "glamor boy of the beaches." That is based on the following episode in Miami.

Shortly after the Pendergast clean-up in Kansas City, the then attorney general, Frank Murphy, who is a real glamor boy both in politics and among the gals, made a crack about cleaning up corruption in American cities. He was not then on the supreme court, and he didn't want to go there. He thought he had an outside chance of becoming heir-apparent to the great white throne. This may have had nothing to do with Attorney General Murphy's proposed city cleaning crusade, but if Tom Dewey could become a leading candidate by cleaning one city, what couldn't Frank Murphy do by cleaning ten?

So he ordered Hoover and six G-men to Florida and later announced that he had done so to cleanse Miami. That just about ruined Hoover's effectiveness there because it was an open warning to crooks in hiding. It warned the inefable Florida Senator Pepper into a lather. It is true that it isn't any part of the federal government's business to clean up local self-governments except as

News doesn't seem to approve of F. B. I. as an agent to stop interstate white slavery. It has long been critical of Mr. Hoover. When he went to Florida it reported him as living extravagantly in a costly shore place. Some come-on commentators pictured him as lolling around with sand-plastered bathing beauties on the beach. This glamor-boy smear-stuff, coupled with the ridiculous charge of invading state rights, was the worst possible publicity. It was part of the campaign to "get Hoover."

No Fair Probe Can Hurt Chief G-Man

But it was grossly unfair and entirely unwarranted. Not that it is anybody's business, but a mutual acquaintance told me that Hoover's room rate was $1250 a day. Because he was on duty, a munificent government allowed an expense account of $500 a day. So J. Edgar's oriental extravagance per diem in Miami was $750.

He has turned down magnificent honorariums to exploit his reputation. He said that he could not commercialize it. The guy couldn't be extravagant because he hasn't got the dough. Even the present character assassins who are on his trail would not dare to charge any speculation against him at any time in his career—23 years on this work.

The whole uproar about Florida is pure smear coupled with ex-Attorney General Murphy's inept publicity about his own personal city-cleaning campaigns. Here, as in other charges discussed in earlier columns, no fair investigation can hurt Mr. Hoover. But this kind of political assault on honest and efficient law enforcement can hurt the country.

Tomorrow's column on the "Fly cop of the Stork club" will discuss the latter aspect and only remaining smear charge. It will close this series of four columns on F.B.I.

TAXES AND WORKERS' HOLIDAYS

Only last summer the press of the country, including this newspaper, were making the welkin ring at the good fortune of the employees in the City of New York Sanitation Department because the widow of multi-millionaire Otto H. Kahn had turned over to them for a nominal sum the splendid estate her husband had created some miles from the city, with its four hundred acres of grounds and its costly chateau which alone was estimated to have cost more than a million dollars.

But now a sneering specter has entered upon the scene and destroyed everything. In fact, the sanitation workers who, with their families, had such a great time last summer, have thrown up the sponge.

It is all a matter of taxes. They find they cannot foot the bill. For the taxes on the country estate are $2,000.00 a month.

Mayor LaGuardia in an effort to save the cutting center first proposed to create a holding corporation for the property along charitable lines with the expectation that he could then lawfully secure exemption of the property from taxation. But the town board in the little community in which the property was located persuaded the mayor that any such action meant disaster for the town since the $24,000.00 annual taxes had become vitally necessary in the town's budgetary details.

All of which tends to emphasize again how narrow the road is becoming, how our wastage and squandering, our rich-man's conception of government is rapidly taking us to the cleaners. And the cleaners are located on the rock pile.

There was a time in American history, and not so long ago, when exemption for projects of the Kahn nature might easily have been secured without tipping over the dining room table. But those days are past and with them the delightful elasticity in government finances that made possible quick alterations without wrecking the whole machinery.

While the generosity of the Kahn family in practically giving this property away is not to be belittled it may be found that the family no longer could afford to support such a costly estate, and neither can anyone else. But the fact that a purpose to employ such estates for the benefit of city toilers, is no longer practical is a sad reflection upon the direction in which we have been drifting for so long.

SAMUEL UNDERMYER

Any attempt to evaluate the life of Samuel Undermyer, whose death at his Palm Springs, Calif., home at the age of 81 followed a short illness, immediately generates a conflict of contradictions.

From the time he earned $75,000 from legal fees during his first year of law practice, when he was only 19 and grew a beard to conceal his youth, it was established that he would be a great lawyer. Some members of the profession rank Undermyer as the greatest American lawyer of all times. At least he figured in some of the most prominent cases of all times. And in such cases as those involving J. P. Morgan, Sr., John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and Henry Ford he demonstrated his canny, profound and expansive legal talent beyond doubt.

Yet, his very brilliance made Undermyer many enemies. An energetic money getter, he was not the orthodox philanthropist and due to sickness and overwork he frequently was testy. At such times his office staff walked gingerly or did as the chauffeur who became so exasperated that he quit his distinguished employer in the middle of the thick traffic in Columbus Circle, New York, and left him stranded until a relief driver was obtained. Nor did other lawyers relish the frequent defeats he gave them in court.

However, there never was any question about Undermyer's keen intellect. And another side of his life reveals many public services in which he gave of his ability and knowledge without charge. He was an unpaid advisor of McKinley and Wilson. He served the city of New York in countless instances without charging any fee. And in his more mellow moods he took great interest in the personal affairs of his employees. Throughout his mature life, for instance, a number of his gardeners were his personal friends.

A great lawyer and liberal, Undermyer also was a philanthropist but a philanthropist who did not conform to the story book rules.

THE PUBLIC'S MONEY

Two appropriations for the subsidy of veterans' conventions in Wisconsin cities, amounting to $60,000 in total, were approved by the last legislature and Governor Heil and are now among the laws of Wisconsin.

An American Legion convention corporation was granted an advance of $50,000 to assist in meeting the expenses of the national Legion convention in Milwaukee, but with the understanding that the amount was to be repaid if possible. A similar corporation organized to handle details of the D.A.V. national convention in Green Bay was authorized to receive $10,000 from the state treasury.

Now State Treasurer John M. Smith, who is under bond, announces firmly that he will not approve drafts on those funds until he is authorized to do so by a court order. The treasurer "loves the Legion," he points out, but he is doubtful of the validity of the appropriations and cognizant that a Madison taxpayer stands ready to start an action to prevent payment as soon as he moves to approve the vouchers presented to him by the secretary of state.

Mr. Smith, it will seem to many of us, is here taking a sensible attitude on a fundamental question. Like the treasurer, all of us respect the veterans' organizations. But we also respect the integrity of our laws and our system of government. It is well established that public appropriations must be used for public purposes. The question is raised whether the present appropriations are for "public purposes."

Here is an issue which may rise again in the years ahead. We suggest that the veterans' corporations which were granted the funds by the legislature take Mr. Smith's suggestion and ask a competent court to rule on the question. It is a question which ought to be settled on its broader implications, aside from the immediate circumstances which bring it before us now.

NAPOLEON'S WARNING

There is at least one important military figure in England who supports the belief that Russia rather than Germany is the empire's most dangerous enemy. He is Major General J. E. C. Fuller who last June said, "If war comes, it will probably lead to an amicable repartition of Poland between Russia and Germany."

Writing in the current issue of the U. S. "Army Ordnance" Major General Fuller gives this keen analysis: "I think it (this war) could have (been averted), had we realized that throughout these many crises of the past months, Russia and not Germany was our most formidable enemy. . . . For years past, I have suggested that, though a self-sufficient Germany is a danger to the British empire, a self-sufficient Russia would spell its ruin. . . ."

Major General Fuller also subscribes to the belief that this war is much more than a fight against Hitler. "The war now being fought is as much a war between two world conceptions as were the wars of religion in the sixteenth century and the Thirty Years' war in the seventeenth. This war is a continuation of the Napoleonic wars of oceanic against continental power."

Strangely enough, a forewarning of what is now taking place in Europe was uttered years ago by one of Europe's greatest soldiers. At St. Helena, Napoleon said, "Should there arise an emperor of Russia, valiant, impetuous, with a beard on his face, Europe is his. When I am dead and gone, my memory will be reversed because I endeavored to stop that which will yet take place. . . . when the barbarians of the north will possess Europe—which would never have happened had it not been for you (the English)."

Stalin has only a mustache, no beard, and he is not valiant. But he is greedy, ruthless and he has the man-power and resources to make Napoleon's warning something to consider.

HE SAYS HE LACKS COURAGE

General Motors, one of the nation's biggest industries, paid a tax bill last year of over 101 million dollars.

This should be a matter for weeping and wailing upon the part of our noble President who, when seeking votes for office, almost wept himself as he said, "Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors," and significantly added that we must "have the courage to stop borrowing, stop deficits."

One need not understand anything about the inner workings of General Motors to know what takes place when prices of its numerous products are fixed. That tax bill of 101 millions is considered along with the price of steel and labor, and thus becomes one of the most important elements in adjustment of cost schedules. And every one of those 101 millions has been paid by "the sweat of every man who labors."

No one in history ever made workers sweat so profusely while they were patted on the back and given a wisp of hope consisting of six parts bamboozle and four parts the odor of sweet peas as our noble President.

But these self-baptized liberals merit a medal as distinctive as the iron cross for having worked the workers to a finish and made them sweat till their eyes were full of it in order to provide some of the funds for the Praetorian Guard while our noble President swings bond issues to get the rest of it thereby acknowledging that his courage is only tops when he is on the stump and he hasn't enough left to "stop borrowing."

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—It is now possible to give a general summary of the Sumner Welles peace conversations. They form an important background to the Hitler-Mussolini conference and to the present crisis in which Hitler apparently offers the alternative of peace on his terms, or bloody warfare.

The first Welles conversation with Mussolini was entirely exploratory. The Italian premier impressed upon him the fact that Italy was a non-belligerent rather than a neutral, and had a very definite interest in the outcome of the war. Italy believed (with Germany), Il Duce said, that if Welles and the Allies wanted to alleviate unrest and the semi-warfare which had disrupted Europe since the first World War, they must get down to the root cause of unrest—namely, raw materials.

Mussolini proceeded in some detail to tell how he had been forced to conduct a campaign in Ethiopia in order to get raw materials. Mussolini said that he was quite sure Germany would be satisfied with the status quo (in other words, a peace permitting her to retain her victories over Poland and Czechoslovakia) and, he said, peace undoubtedly could be worked out along these lines.

Mussolini warned that the world should not be misled by Germany's scuttling of her own plans, which he said was no sign of weakness, but a consistent policy. It meant that Germany was ready to scuttle the entire Reich, if necessary.

Welles made no proposals to Mussolini, merely remarked that he was beginning his trip, was there to listen, and would come back for another talk later.

Note—Edda Ciano, daughter of the dictator and wife of the foreign minister, took Mrs. Welles on a tour of Rome, during which they bought some silks. On the whole, the trip started pleasantly.

HITLER WAS POLITE

Diplomatic observers expected Hitler to give Welles one of his usual long-winded, ill-tempered harangues.

No love had been lost between the two men in the past, for Welles, when Acting Secretary of State, several times had issued scathing statements against Der Fuehrer.

But on this occasion, Hitler was friendly and cordial. He talked in general terms, leaving the detailed discussion for Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop.

Germany wanted peace, Hitler said, but only on terms under which she could live. The world, he said, had arrived at a condition in which little nations could exist no longer—at least as economic units—though it was possible, perhaps, for them to survive as national units.

Therefore, Germany planned to cooperate with and absorb some of them economically. This statement by Hitler had much to do with Roosevelt's message to the conference of foreign ministers last week, in which he warned that there could be no sound peace "if small nations live in fear of powerful neighbors." This message created great rejoicing in London and Paris, and was admitted by Roosevelt's close advisers to be a rebuke to Hitler.

RIBBENTROP GIVES DETAILS

Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop spoke in more detail.

One interesting point he made was that after the war, Great Britain would launch a vigorous drive to recapture its Latin American markets and squeeze out the United States. Therefore, the German foreign minister advised that the United States waste no time in exploiting Latin America immediately. This, he added, would meet the approval of Germany.

As Germany sees it, Ribbentrop continued, there is ample room in the world for all major countries. The United States can cooperate economically with South America, France and Italy can find outlets in North Africa. Great Britain's sphere of influence is in Asia, and Germany's area of exploitation is Central and Southeast Europe.

Then Ribbentrop outlined the Hitler plan for a Nazi economic empire based upon a federation of Southeast European and Danubian states. The Czechs, Slovaks and Hungarians would set up a state under German protection, in which Germany would control the railroads, telegraphs, telephones and heavy industries.

The Balkan states would participate with Germany and Italy in an economic federation, in which customs barriers would be broken down, and raw materials would be exchanged for Germany's manufactured goods.

Poland was to be made a small independent state, with a large slice of the east given to Russia and the Corridor going to Germany. Austria was to remain permanently a part of Germany.

DALADIER NOT PLEASED

In Paris, Premier Daladier already knew about the German peace proposals. They had been outlined in general terms by unofficial diplomats many times before.

Bluff and blunt Daladier made no effort to conceal the fact that he was not pleased with the Welles mission. He drove home the point that France could not trust Hitler and that any peace which might be signed now would be a repetition of Munich.

Daladier particularly emphasized the fact that if peace was signed now, and Hitler violated it later, it would be impossible for France to mobilize her army. The French people, he said, were tired of mobilizing for half a peace. They wanted to get the war over completely over, and then get back to their fields.

The reaction Welles got in England was identical. Chamberlain was in a position to remind him that he had gone further than any other chief of government in attempting to cooperate with Hitler, that he had accepted Hitler's word at Munich, but he could not accept it again. No peace, he said, was possible with Hitler.

But should Hitler step out of office and be replaced by a reasonable government in Berlin, then Great Britain was only too anxious for a fair peace, and one which would even take into account Germany's need of raw materials.

All in all, Welles sailed with very little optimism to report to his chief in the White House. (Copyright, 1940, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

QUIET EVENING

I love your quiet in a noisy world. Others have ready speech, but I can see The depth of your beloved tranquility. The echoes of a thunderous war are hurled Into my shrinking ear. Your silence seems More beautiful because of deafening Insistent noise. There is time left for dreams And for the solace of remembering.

I love the quiet of our peaceful rooms. Since here alone is peace. I wish that we Could share our freedom. Where the cannon booms, And men, our brothers, die across the sea, This clock that strikes the homing hour of seven Would point with its two hands their way to heaven.

Postal revenues of the United States for the last fiscal year were the highest on record.

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT
Washington—This is the story of a big stink in the United States senate.

Stinnett looked apprehensively at the closed committee room. No one dared investigate. The committee was in secret session.

It smelled like something burning. It was something burning—a fistful of stenographic abracadabra that told what may have been one of the strangest secrets of the day—the exact formula of Lester P. Barlow's liquid oxygen-carbon aerial mines.

Utter Futility It happened the other day. Here's how. Senators Nye and Gillette and Representative Church of Illinois are sponsors of a resolution to look into the possibilities of the Barlow bomb. The resolution came before the senate committee. Mr. Barlow was called in.

Mr. Barlow is an inventor and temperamental. On occasion, he can be very outspoken. On this occasion he was so outspoken that he had the senators gasping. He not only described the death and destruction which his invention would cause. He declared that the nation which owns it will be impregnable and great in the world a sense of the utter futility of war. And then Mr. Barlow tossed a verbal bomb, just to give the senators an idea of his capabilities. Without even lowering his voice to a whisper, he reeled off the chemical formula of his invention.

Aghast committee members asked: "Have you told this to anyone before? To representatives of any foreign nation?" Mr. Barlow said emphatically no.

The committee passed a motion to have the testimony burned. A stenographer was placed on the committee room table, the stenographic report dumped into it. A match was applied and while the committee looked solemnly on, Mr. Barlow's secret went up in smoke. Reporters smelled the smoke and a story but when they arrived, grim-faced senators shook their heads through the haze and held up shushing hands to silence questions.

Demonstration? The liquid oxygen-carbon aerial mine is not the first occasion of Mr. Barlow's dealings with the government. A few years ago, the U. S. court of claims allowed him something like $600,000 for his inventions on engines and arms of death during the World War. Before that he worked with Pancho Villa, but not after the United States took a hand in the affairs of that colorful Mexican.

Mr. Barlow wants to demonstrate to the government the killing power of his new bomb. The committee wants the army and navy experts to look on. Mr. Barlow says he will use live animals to prove the killing radius of the waves of death that spread for unheard-of distances from the bomb explosion.

He assures the committee that, in no case, can there be any suffering to the dumb animals trotted out for this little show. Church reports: "He says the death of such animals will be much quicker than any means used in the pecking houses. By using dumb animals, in these detonations, he has stated that it will be very convincing that war is futile."

Some of the boys in the ordnance division of the army are skeptical. They insist such bombs are not practicable. They might go boom while being handled, they claim. Mr. Barlow says not. He says his bomb can be tested about as much safety as if it were a cap-pistol.

We shall see what we shall see—maybe it isn't often that these secret committees call attention to themselves by raising a stink in the capitol corridors.

CONSERVATION FOR HUNTERS

Editor Post-Crescent—In writing this for the betterment of our big game hunting, I am speaking for about 25 men who are interested in this kind of conservation. We have heard numerous stories about what should be done about our deer season. Most of these stories come from fellows who have 1 or 2 years experience in this sport. I have not missed for 10 or 12 seasons so I would like to state my views about this.

Thru the numerous counts that the state has made, they found that there are almost as many deer now as when the Indians were here. If you check back a few years when the season was in December, when we could almost be sure of snow, we had better hunting because: 1. better tracking, thereby eliminating the number of deer being left to die in the woods, 2. visibility, meaning that with a white background, making it much easier to see antlers. Of course this is not meant for the fellow who shoots at some body's white mittens or anything like that. Something should be done about those fellows. Of course some will say that by having a season in December will give the violator a better chance, on account of being colder, to shoot more deer to sell to the fellow who has enough money that he can get his deer with "silver bullets". But this can

EASTER BONNET

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison—The executive office announcement this week of a $3,500,000 highway construction project this year should not be interpreted as a guarantee that that much money will be spent on state highways this year.

The governor's office announcement was simply a release of details of a plan announced by Heil several months ago to spend not $3,500,000 this year, but $5,000,000. Moreover, Heil did not in any sense approve the projects singly or collectively. No bids called for, and it is entirely possible that none will be let, according to a non-partisan examination of the state treasury.

As far as this correspondent can see, the administration can be thankful if it is able to scrape up enough money to meet operating appropriations, without mentioning highway construction at all. The highway program as announced means simply that the projects enumerated will be approved if there is enough money on hand later in the summer. Not a single shovel can be lifted on any of the jobs listed without Governor Heil's signature on a construction contract, and it will be remembered that Governor Heil during the 1939 building season held up contracts indefinitely, and finally signed only a few of them.

Of course there are some jobs which can be started with county bond issues and federal aid. As a matter of fact, most important roads in the capitol believe that the 1940 state highway program will be financed almost exclusively by Washington fund and the proceeds of local borrowing. The state government, which this year will collect more money from motorists in road taxes than ever before in history, won't be able to spare much of the total for the purposes for be somewhat eliminated in this way instead of putting hundreds of deputy wardens to work during the deer season to tag and watch the fellow who pays his hunting fee to tag and get his deer legally, let's put these wardens to work a few weeks before season and a month after. That would be a great step in preserving game.

You are now trying to figure out what to do about our next season. Whether or not to close it for 5 years. Looking back about 5 or 6 seasons, the commission had a problem on what to do about the deer that were starving, that there were too many for the little feed they could get. The solution they got was to have an open season. To have the season closed for 5 years would bring this same problem. To have it closed for that length of time, then open it to shoot back on deer, please leave me out of the woods as it would look like Flanders Field, because everything that moves would be filled with lead. I hope the commission will not do anything before giving this careful consideration.

Another suggestion about firearms now used by deer hunters, who have eliminated buckshot and 22 rimfire, why not also discard shotgun slugs, 22 centre five and 25-20, all of which are so small, unless in the hands of an expert and how many hunters are expert. Checking a ballistics chart will verify these calibers.

In closing I will say that the sportsmen of Appleton should be thankful that they have a man from their city on the conservation commission to tell their woes. I believe Mr. Catlin with a little help and ideas will make one of the best conservation men in the state. Yours for a better hunting season, A. J. "Ducky" Schiltz.

HOME TREATMENT

Yesterday I promised to print the treatment I'd prefer if I were coming down with Cri (a "cold" to old timers). And here it is:

1. Three grains of quinine sulfate (in pill, tablet or capsule form) every four hours for two or three days. This is the average dose for an adult actually ill. For a child one grain every four hours. Prophylactic dose of quinine (for well folk in time of epidemic) is two grains three times a day; for children one grain twice or three times daily while the infection is prevalent in the community.

2. As soon as any irritation in nose or throat begins, drop in each nostril with head held far back, a drop of a solution of vitamin D in neutral vegetable oil three or four times a day, especially before retiring.

3. Shush Aunt Baria's hot bath proposition—if anything like that is to be tried it must be a hot, mustard foot bath in bed, and that requires the service of a trained nurse—and set her at cooking up a bath of—

Footproof Cough Medicine
Boil for 20 to 30 minutes a tablespoonful of whole flaxseed, (not linseed meal) in a pint of water. In the flaxseed tea dissolve one ounce of citrate of soda, two tablespoonfuls of glycerin, the juice of a lemon, two or three drops of oil (essence) of peppermint.

Dose for adult, tablespoonful every hour or two for one or two days. For infant or young child, teaspoonful every two or three hours.

MILWAUKEE CONTEST
There is good authority for believing that Governor Heil is taking more than a passing interest in the Milwaukee mayoralty campaign between Daniel W. Hoan and Carl Zeidler. It was recently revealed that Heil has aided Zeidler financially. Now there is information available that the assistance is more considerable than that $150 gift. Some of the governor's leading political cronies in the Athletic club are pitching into what they see as the final effort to oust a Socialist head of the state's largest, and essentially conservative, city.

HEIL AND SENATE
When capitol reporters this week wrote the story of Heil's announcement that he is a candidate for a second term, many of them noted previous speculation that he might be a candidate for the United States senate.

It is true that there was considerable speculation of that nature, but the plain truth is that it never emanated from Heil himself. It was circulated by Heil opponents, including a good many Republicans, in order to get him out of the capitol. There is good reason for believing that some prominent men ostensibly loyal supporters of the governor tried earnestly to get him to run against LaFollette—and they used to the utmost the alluring possibility that he might thus become the only man in the state able to unseat the two LaFollettes—in order to open the door to the executive chamber to another man more suited to their tastes.

DIVIDEND TAX
More than 1200 foreign corporations who were nominally relieved of the necessity of paying the state privilege dividend tax through the supreme court decision two months ago are still paying. The funds are being segregated and reserved in a special account in the treasury, pending final disposition of the state's appeal of the case to the United States supreme court. About 4,500 domestic corporations continue to pay at the increased rate of 3 per cent. Normally the foreign concerns contribute about 19 per cent of the total collected under the levy invented by LaFollette and continued by the last Republican legislature.

hours. No harm in continuing the medicine indefinitely if desired; even if the whole batch were accidentally swallowed the only unpleasant effect would be mild laxation.

FOOLPROOF COUGH MEDICINE is especially soothing and grateful when there is much throat irritation or tickling, harsh cough, rawness and soreness in breathing passages, tightness and difficulty in expectoration.

In addition to the foregoing I recommend in every case of a cold that the subject should go into voluntary isolation for the duration of the attack—at rest in bed for his own sake, or behind a screen or mask or keep at least five feet away from other persons for their sake.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Salt for Headache
A long time ago you gave a suggestion in your column that proved of inestimable value to me, namely the use of common table salt as a remedy for headache. I had suffered a good deal with nervous or congestive headaches and was drifting into the acetamide habit. I found your remedy remarkably efficacious, and have never had occasion to resort to any drug for occasional headache since.

(Mrs. I. W. T.)
Answer—Thank you Salt dissolved in water would be nauseating. Salt coated tablets of sodium chloride, ordinary table salt, are easy to swallow. Take a fifteen-grain tablet every five minutes until six tablets taken. For monograph on Headache, just ready, send stamped envelope bearing your address.

Looking Backward
10 YEARS AGO
With a reaffirmation of his political affiliation as a Progressive Republican, Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, announced that day he was a candidate for reelection.

Florence E. Nelson was elected president of the Luther League of Trinity English Lutheran church at a meeting Wednesday night in the sub-auditorium of the church. Richard Kotke was named vice president.

Nightly practice was to be resumed Thursday evening by the Neenah high school basketball team in preparation for the state tournament the following week at Madison.

25 YEARS AGO
State aid amounting to $8,842.39 to apply on Outagamie county highways was received that morning at the office of the county treasurer. The roads from here to Chicago were nearly as good as in the summer with the exception of a bad stretch between Fond du Lac and Menomonie. Falls, according to Thomas Hartsel, driver of C. B. Fisher, who made the trip that week, taking Mr. Hartsel's car to Chicago to be repaired. They spent the night in Milwaukee.

In retaliation for Russia's occupation of Memel, the Germans burned all government buildings in Suwalki, Russian Poland. The situation at the American Presbyterian mission was desperate. The Turks were massing the Assyrian Christians.

Pastor Says Skeptics Can't Banish Belief In Man's Immortality

The Rev. Dascomb Forbush, pastor of the First Congregational church, told the Appleton Kiwanis club yesterday that no amount of skeptical talk can banish the belief in man's immortality.

Speaking at the club's noon luncheon in the Conway hotel, the pastor said he has listened to skeptics, who believe man's body to be nothing more than a machine which ultimately wears out and is cast aside, and that he feels "the doctrine of annihilation is harder to hold to than our faith in immortality."

He spoke of the army captain in the World war who told his men, as they were about to attack, that if they were killed "it means resurrection." In an Easter message to the club, the pastor read passages from religious writings.

the WORLD of STAMPS

American postal officials are bracing themselves for a blast which they fear will be aimed at them when the Pony Express postage stamp appears April 3. Critics who have seen advance illustrations of the stamp are busy picking flaws in the design.

A writer in Washington who has listened in on the criticisms reports:

"The stamp depicts a rider on a horse which is bent on the task of carrying the mail, its mane streaming in the breeze, and hooves a-hammering.

"But, say equestrians who have peeped at the stamp, the rider is being very casual about his reins—he's letting them dangle as if his mount were eating hay.

"And then there's the saddle. A man who should know has told the Post Office Department that the type saddle on the stamp was not used until 50 years after the last express pony was pensioned."

First day sales of the stamp will be held at St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Cal., which served as eastern and western terminals of the pony express service. The occasion is the 80th anniversary of the inauguration of the route.

It's understood in Washington that this stamp will be the last that will be offered for sale during 1940 except those that have already been agreed upon.

In the design of the Pan American Union stamp which the U. S.

will issue April 14. The design, described recently in this column, shows Botticelli's famous painting, "The Three Graces."

E. W. Smith Honored At Masonic Meeting

Waupaca — Members of the Masonic order after the regular meeting of the chapter Tuesday evening celebrated the seventy-fifth birthday anniversary of E. W. Smith. The event was a surprise to Mr. Smith, and was planned and arranged by Worshipful Master George Hendrickson and High Priest Hugh Johnson.

Mr. Smith has been a member of the Blue lodge since Nov. 24, 1908, and of the Royal Arch since 1909.

He is now coaching his eighty-first candidate preparatory to the work of the Blue lodge. Thoroughly familiar with every detail of the work in the seven degrees, Mr. Smith has substituted in every one of the chairs.

Among the many Masons from the surrounding towns who had been invited to join in the celebration, was Judge Cad Jones of Waupaca. Others came from that city, from Manawa and from Weyauwega. Two of his three sons, Arthur and Ernest Jr., were also present, the son Henry being out of the city. Mr. Smith was presented with a lawn chair for his summer cottage and following the presentation refreshments were served.

Praises Police Training School Program in State

Captain H. E. Dax, Milwaukee. Speaker at Instruction Meeting

Captain H. E. Dax, director of the Milwaukee Police Training school, today praised the program of the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police association in conducting police training schools throughout the state.

Captain Dax was the speaker at one of a series of schools held yesterday at the Appleton Vocational school for policemen in the Appleton area. He said that the schools are being given "an enthusiastic reception by law enforcement officers."

Captain Dax spoke on the "Law of Evidence, Arrests, Searches and Seizures."

The Milwaukee police school director is appearing at the series of police schools in the state through the courtesy of the Milwaukee Police department. Other speakers at the schools are representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation which is cooperating with the chiefs of police association. Wisconsin is the first of the states to inaugurate such a program.

Dax said that a police department must either go forward or backward, and that the police training schools show they are progressing. The schools of instruction are one of the means through which the police can earn the respect of the public, he said.

Captain Dax has been head of the Milwaukee police school since 1935 and has been a member of the Milwaukee police department for 22 years. He attended night school for three years, studying for the bar, and he was admitted in 1928.

He complimented the policemen attending the school sessions yesterday, on their interest in the instruction program and added that their attitude shows they are anxious to become more efficient at their jobs. Members of the city police department today were planning to request the Milwaukee Police chief to have Captain Dax return to Appleton to give another talk in the near future.

State Teachers Colleges Will Try To Keep Up Work

Protest Budget Cuts but Declare They'll Keep Afloat Times

Madison—(U)—The delegate assembly of the Association of Wisconsin State Teachers Colleges adopted a resolution yesterday declaring the school faculties would try to keep up their work in spite of salary cuts, economic and political demands in spite of salary cuts, and in spite of the teaching load and equipment shortage.

The resolution was part of a general protest voiced by the group against the budget reduction ordered by the state emergency board which resulted in a six per cent cut of faculty salaries.

The delegates adopted a general statement of policy declaring the cuts should be restored and the legislature should provide a budget more adequate for educational needs. They favored continuation of a 12 month salary payment schedule, declaring a change in the method of payment "would be likely to depress individual incomes further and create intra-faculty competition for summer school positions."

Meeting during the association's 12th biennial conference, the delegate assembly elected Nevin S. James, of Oshkosh, president; Eric J. Stoneman, of Platteville, vice president; and Sarrle Edmonson, of Milwaukee, secretary-treasurer. Myrtle Trowbridge, of LaCrosse, and Justice Williams, of River Falls, were elected to the executive committee.

Retiring officers were N. O. Reppen, of Stevens Point, president; Georgiana Clark, of Platteville, vice president; and Hilda Belle Oxy, of Eau Claire, secretary-treasurer.

council, similar to Britain's ministerial economic warfare group.

Reynaud called his first cabinet meeting for tomorrow morning, to be followed by a council of ministers—the cabinet meeting with President Albert Lebrun. These sessions will be followed by governmental declarations before the two chambers of parliament.

The new cabinet:

Paul Reynaud, premier and foreign minister; Camille Chautemps, vice premier; Edouard Daladier, national defense; Cécile Campinchi, navy; Laurent Eynac, air; Raoul Dautry, armaments; Henry Roy, interior; Louis Rollin, commerce; Albert Serot, justice; Lucien Lamoureux, finance.

Georges Mandel, colonies; Albert Sarraut, public instruction; Henri Queuille, provisions; Paul Thélac, agriculture; Georges Monnet, blockade; Anatole de Monzie, public works; Charles Pomaret, labor; Jules Julien, communications; Louis Frossard, information; Alphonse Rio, merchant marine; Marcel Herault, public health; Albert Riviere, pensions.

The socialist, largest party in the chamber but without representation in a French cabinet since Daladier took power in April, 1938, have three ministers in the new government, Monnet, Serot and Riviere.

The cabinet was kept from being a real national union government by the refusal of Louis Marin's republican federation at the extreme right to be represented.

Shortly before the cabinet list was issued, the federation announced it "had declined to participate in a government which does not correspond to a true war cabinet."

not prepared for an "inquisition on our decisions."

Engel took exception to the statement and McNulty promptly changed the word to "examination."

Committee Chairman Arver (D-Wis.) declared that no one had any idea of "conducting an inquisition."

Keefe declared that 26 Wisconsin canning plants closed last year because of interpretations and predicted that "another great bunch of canning factories would have to close unless something were done."

The social security board favors variable federal grants to states for old age assistance instead of the present system of matching state payments.

Chairman Arthur J. Altmeier told a house appropriations subcommittee, in testimony made public today, that the board felt the grants should be related to the economic capacity and need of the individual states.

"We do not favor a free fund to an administrative agency which must determine for itself and on such basis as it deems reasonable how much each state should get," he said.

Other testimony before the subcommittee brought out these statements:

Isadore Lubin, labor department statistician, said that if war continues, retail prices will go up and labor will demand higher wages. And end to war, he said, would increase unemployment and cause prices to drop.

New Deal Blasted By Col. Roosevelt In Superior Talk

Son of Former President Says "Dewey Has Common Sense"

Superior—(U)—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., stumping in behalf of Thomas E. Dewey, blasted at the New Deal last night as dangerous to democracy and accused President Roosevelt of "deliberately trying to twist our present form of government into another form, patterned after some in Europe."

"Democracy in the United States is at the cross roads. If we let it fall down here, democracy will fade from the face of the earth," the eldest son of the late president declared in an address supporting Dewey's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

He asserted that democracy in the United States was being threatened by the attitude of the present administration in "invading alien influences here with open arms," and added:

"We must correct these imperfections in our government but not destroy its very structure. The present stage of American history is serious. The presidential election will determine the fate of democracy in this land."

Col. Roosevelt said that Dewey, unlike the New Deal, believed that work would create the only true wealth that would bring back prosperity.

"Dewey has common sense, a quality very scarce in Washington these days. They've been trying to tell Americans that you can solve your problems without any effort but I'm here to say you can't."

Concerning the third term issue, Col. Roosevelt said:

"I was governor general of the Philippines at the time of President Roosevelt's re-election. When asked my relationship to F. D. R., I said I was his fifth cousin about to be disposed of. His relationship to me now is fifth cousin, about to be removed."

Sees No Need for Placing Dairying Under Federal Act

Marketing Expert Says AAA Workable but Inadvisable Just Now

Washington—(U)—An agricultural department official said yesterday he believed that a bill to make dairying a basic commodity under the agricultural adjustment act could be made workable but that he doubted its advisability at this time.

The witness was E. W. Gaumnitz, director of the AAA division of marketing agreements, before an agriculture sub-committee headed by Senator Wiley (R-Wis.).

The bill would "freeze" the cow population at its present level, establish machinery for marketing allotments, and provide benefit payments for compliance in the program.

Describing the plan as one to control dairy production, Gaumnitz said administration would be more difficult than for corn, wheat, cotton and other basic commodities.

"The plan might work with modifications," Gaumnitz said after explaining an unfavorable report by the department to the house agricultural committee which Tuesday heard Wisconsin proponents on a companion bill (HR 6500).

In that report the department said the bill did not say whether funds would come from present appropriations for benefit payments or whether additional funds would be sought.

The department report also expressed doubt that parity payment funds allocated to dairy products—because of dairy products' relative better position than other commodities—would be sufficient to justify incurring the administration cost of establishing cow allotments and normal production for dairy farms.

Cunningham Gets
Another Chance

Glenn Runs Bankers Mile
Saturday Night on Chicago Track

BY EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago—(P)—Glenn Cunningham, whose record across the years ranks him as the greatest miler of all time, may wind up his indoor track career in an appropriate blaze of glory in the Chicago relays bankers mile race Saturday night.

It was eight years ago, in this same event that Glenn first hit the invitational circuit, winning the mile title to open a brilliant track saga. Now that he has announced his intention of retiring after the 1940 outdoor season, the remarkable Kansan may be running his final indoor mile Saturday—and conceivably could furnish this appearance with one of his greatest performances.

Cunningham will run the Bankers mile against Charles (Chuck) Fenske, Wisconsin graduate student, Archie San Remi and Gene Venske. That field shapes up as good enough to threaten records anywhere. Racing on the speedy, kiln-dried "spare track" at the international amphitheater, it stands a chance of shattering Fenske's best time this season, 4:07.4—which he twice attained last month.

Undoubtedly Cunningham will be the sentimental favorite Saturday, but records point to Fenske as the winner.

Cunningham's 4:04.4 mile at Dartmouth in 1933 was the fastest mile ever run. This winter he made his best time while finishing second to Fenske Feb. 3 in the Millrose games.

Track records are expected to topple in whole-sale fashion Saturday night. Groe Rice, holder of the world's two mile record of 8:56.2, Don Lash, Walter Mehl, recent two-mile victor over Taisto Maki, Tommy Deckard and Joe McCuskey will run in the two mile event.

Eight lettermen were included on the squad of 15 which will face Mississippi college, Southwestern Institute and Louisiana State before opening the home season against Illinois State Normal April 6.

Indians Are Picked to Finish Ahead of Boston

BY GAYLE TALBOT
FORT MYERS, Fla.—(P)—There is a popular baseball saying, tinted faintly with irony, that the Cleveland Indians always win the pennant this time of year.

Nevertheless, when three Cleveland baseball writers greeted this visitor like money from home and demanded to bet him that the Indians finish ahead of the Boston Red Sox in the coming American league race, they at least aroused a suspicion that something might be going on.

It wasn't too difficult to discover what the boys were excited about. Though he at first attempted to laugh the matter off as childish fancy on the part of his writing corps, Manager Oscar Vitt soon broke down and admitted that they probably were thinking about his new keystone combination—Louis Boudreau at shortstop and Ray Mack at second base.

This young pair joined the Indians from Buffalo last season and their performance was sensational. Inspired by their fielding, the Indians won 19 of their last 23 games to finish a fast closing third behind Boston.

"I guess the boys think that with Boudreau and Mack in there all the

Noses Out Zephyrs, 20 to 18, in Finals of Vacation Meet

Stagg Hi-Y cagers took top honors when they nosed out Zephyrs, 20 to 18, in the finals of the Hi-Y basketball tournament staged at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium this week as a vacation activity. In a semi-final scrap, Zephyr Hi-Y eked out a 25 to 23 win over Badger Hi-Y.

The Badgers and Zephyrs will meet to determine second and third place in the near future.

Stagg cagers trailed, 10 to 8 at the end of the half, but held Zephyrs scoreless in the third period while taking a 16 to 10 advantage.

In the Badger-Zephyr scrap, the former held a 15 to 7 lead at half-time and the score was knotted at 18-18 at the end of the third stanza. Burton caged the winning bucket in the last 40 seconds.

way we ought to beat the Red Sox this time," said Oscar. "I'll admit it, but like we've solved our biggest problem. Mack isn't much of a hitter, but he and Boudreau are such great fielders and so fast on double plays that I'm almost willing to overlook his hitting. Besides, I'll have Oscar Grimes ready to step in for Mack if it develops that we need a little more punch."

Boudreau is out at present with a chipped ankle bone, while Grimes slowly is recovering from a recent operation, but Vitt expects both to be ready by the start of the campaign. Mack looks better in the field day after day, frequently making acrobatic stops that rival Joe Gordon of the Yankees as he gains confidence.

With Hal Trosky at first and Ken Keltner at third, it looks like the Indians might finally have an infield to rival either the Yankees or the Red Sox. They still lack the batting power of either of their principal rivals, but their pitching is better than Boston's.

Oscar was asked if his club looked good enough to beat the Red Sox, then why mightn't it go right on and tumble the Yankees?

"Now, now," interrupted the Indians pilot. "Let's take 'em one at a time."

Sorensens, Lutz
Ice Play Tonight
In City-Y League

Tied for First During Regular Season; Start
At 9 O'clock

THE Sorensens Bakery and Lutz Ice company teams will tangle at the Y at 9 o'clock tonight evening to decide the first place position in the City-Y Basketball league. The regular league season ended with the Lutz and Sorensens teams tied for first and second places, Valley Sporting Goods in third place and the Pond Sport Shop in fourth place.

The Shaughnessy playoff will begin on Wednesday, March 27, with the winner of Tuesday's game meeting the Valley Sporting Goods and the loser playing the Pond Sports.

If the winner of Thursday's game is defeated in the playoff, it will have a second opportunity to defend its position in the final league standings, by playing the winner of the Shaughnessy playoff for the championship.

The game tonight promises to be a battle royal. It will bring together two teams of equal strength and ability. Although the Icemen twice defeated the Bakers during the season, the margin was so close that anything can happen.

Both lineups are studded with former college and high school stars. The lineup for the Sorensens team will consist of Don Paulie, Don Powers, Bud Werner, Bill Ogilvie, Bud Buesing, Bob Volkman, John Goehler, George Greisch and John Williamson. The Lutz team will depend on Bud Cathin, Ed. Krause, Herb Lutz, Orville Wonsner, Tom Mullen, Casey Single, Wilmer Vetter, LaVerne Bergner and Karlon Kriek.

Herbie Lutz has the unique distinction of being the oldest player in the league in years of competition, having played since 1924.

In a recent poll of the league managers, the Sorensens team placed four men on the all-star team while the Lutz team placed two.

Youthful Hopes Were Realized by N. U. Cager

Evanston, Ill.—(P)—Add dreams come true:
A youth caddy for Dutch Longborg, Northwestern basketball coach, at Maryville, Mo., several years ago opined, "someday I hope to attend Northwestern."

This week the same youth, Al Buthrus, was elected captain of the Northwestern basketball squad.

Frosty Schafer Shatters
Clintonville Pin Records

Clintonville—Frosty Schafer has been setting a whirlwind pace in local bowling circles lately breaking all city records for the season. Sunday afternoon, bowling in an exhibition match with Petek's Bar of the Waupaca County Classic league against the Skelgas five of the Clintonville major business men's loop, the elongated kegler cracked out a 694 series. Tuesday evening, bowling again with Petek's Bar, this time in the County Classic, Schafer added high single game of 287 for the year and finished with a 675 count for the three games.

Petek's Bar took two out of three games from its home town opponents, the Tripod Chevys, and in doing so hit high single game count and series in the league. High game was a 1083 count, with lines of 950 and 1012, totaled 3,045.

The Bar men paced, by Schafer with games of 168, 278 and 229, had easy work winning the last two games by over 100 pins each. In Schafer's 278 game, he had nine consecutive strikes and in the tenth frame his first ball left one pin standing which he cleaned easily. His next ball again took nine pins. Rex Michaelis, with a 613 count on games of 199, 193 and 221, took second high honors for Petek's and Karl Miller, with counts of 183, 187 and 234 for 604, took third. Ed Bednarski was high man for the Tripod Chevys with a 614 total on games of 210, 189 and 215.

Globe Trotters Take
Invitational Honors

Chicago—(P)—The Harlem Globe Trotters had four more triumphs and the invitational professional basketball tournament championship today to add to their 15-year collection.

The Globe Trotters, who are credited with 1,714 victories in 1,842 starts during the last 15 years, turned back Chicago's Bruins in the championship final last night, 31 to 29.

A field of 14 teams competed in the event which was won last year by the New York Renaissance outfit.

Reports on City Pin
Tourney to be Heard

Officials of Appleton bowling leagues, team captains and any interested bowlers have been invited to attend a meeting of City tournament committees at 9:30 Sunday morning at the Elks club. Reports on arrangements for the tournament will be given and details of the event will be discussed. Because of Easter Sunday services, the meeting will be as short as possible. The tournament this year is being sponsored by the Appleton Bowling association.

He is now favoring a leg injury.

America OUT-OF-DOORS

TRAP AND SKEET NEWS

HUNTERS Special trap and skeet shoots have taken not only the large clubs, but the small clubs by storm. Originated in Minneapolis two years ago, Hunters Specials have broken all attendance records for one day shoots.

They have brought thousands of new gunners into the clay target fold. Pittsburgh, Minneapolis and Dayton, O., staged Hunters Specials last year that attracted between 500 and 600 shooters, a number unheard of in clay target circles.

The program of a Hunters Special calls for either 25 or 50 targets. Just hunters who have not shot at registered targets before, are eligible. The hunters are classified Lewis Class system, which gives every shooter an equal chance.

From three to five classes are used, and a shooter who breaks an average of 10 targets out of 25, has as good a chance to land one of the championships and trophies as the gunner who breaks 25 out of 25.

Try out a Hunters Special skeet or trapshoot at your local club this year. It will give that novice a chance, who doesn't care about lining up in big shoots where the trap or skeet shooter mows down 99 out of 100 or breaks a 100 straight.

The ten outstanding skeet gunners of the 1939 season were Dick Shaughnessy, Boston, Mass., (captain) 16 year old high-school student who led high average skeet gunners of the nation last year with .9909 on registered targets. Others were Bobby Parker, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Don Sperry, Flint, Michigan; Pat Laussen, Akron, Ohio; Walt Dinger, National Champion, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Lloyd Sciaroni, Fresno, California; Alex Key, Beverly Hills, California; Grant Ilse, Hermosa Beach, California; Garydon Hubbard, Elwood, Indiana and Joe Yruegui, Fresno, California.

Henry Ahlin, President of the National Skeet Association, Boston, Massachusetts, informs us that the 1940 National Skeet shoot will be staged at Syracuse, New York. The first National Skeet tourney was held at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1935. This shoot was followed by St. Louis in 1936—Detroit in 1937—Tulsa in 1938 and San Francisco last year. Five hundred shooters are expected at the 1940 tourney, which gets under way August 6 and winds up August 10.

The forty-first annual Grand American Trapshooting tourney, says Ray Loring, manager of the Amateur Trapshooting Association, Vandalia, Ohio, will be held at Vandalia Field, near Dayton, Ohio, August 26-30. The late Rollo Heikes, a Dayton, Ohio, trapshooting star won the first Grand American at New York City in 1900. This year's defending champion is B. L. Ritchie, Goshen, Ohio, who won the title, competing in a field of more than 800 shooters, with 99 out of a 100 and 22 x 25 in the shoot-off, defeating another Buck-Eye gunner, George Wagner of Dayton, Ohio. More than 1,000 different shooters took part in the 1939 Grand American, at which more than a million shotgun shells and targets were used.

Grapefruit Grind— Baseball Camp's No Place To Be If You Want To Doze In The Sun

Spring training camps are as much a part of baseball as the World Series — and as chock full of color. Comparatively few people, though, have an opportunity to visit the camps and get a first-hand view of what actually goes on there. That's why Dillon Graham, in a series of three stories, has painted a word picture of the diamond's "grapefruit grind." This is the first story.

BY DILLON GRAHAM

TAMPA—A fiery Southern sun beats down on the hard-baked, reddish-orange clay of the infield. The brilliant rays, slanting off the clay, hit you in the eyes. You squint, unless you're wearing dark glasses. The heat gets you out in the open but it isn't so bad if you're in the grandstand. Forty-odd flannel-uniformed players are throwing, catching and batting baseballs. Out beyond the park the tall, thin pines sway gently in the breezes coming off the Gulf.

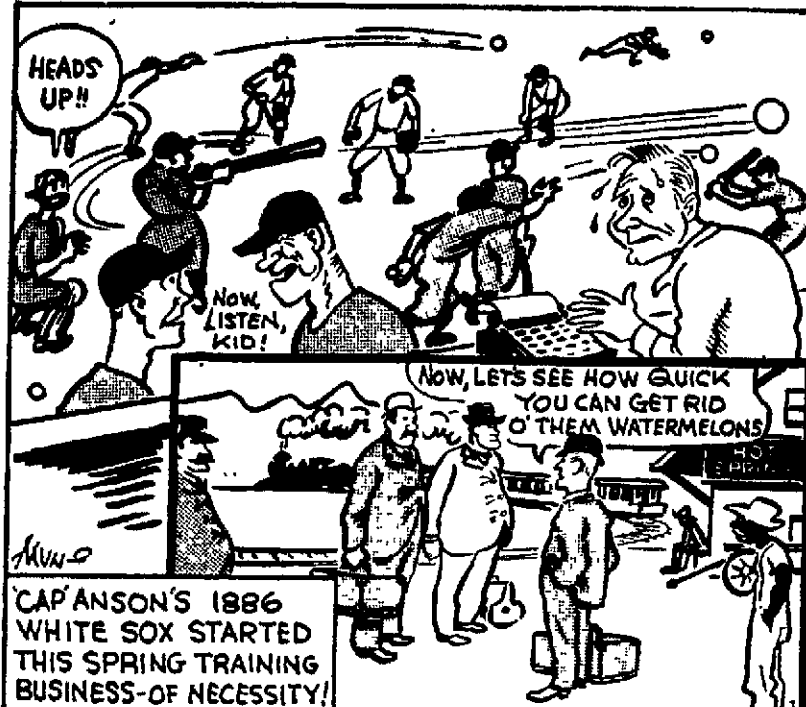

That's the spring training scene in the Florida town where 11 major league clubs are training these days.

The players, wearing long sleeved undershirts under their uniforms, perspire freely. Some are in the outfield, shagging fungoes. Others cavort around the infield, scooping up grounders. In front of the dugouts, down the first and third-base lines, others play catch. A half-dozen bend low before the wooden stands, nimbly hopping about in a pepper game, stopping hard-bunted grounders and in almost the same motion flipping the ball back to the hitter.

It's Risky Business

The air is full of baseballs you fight an urge to raise your arms and protect your face. You're keeping close watch on the ball of a pepper game nearby when—whiz!—a high peg that sailed over the catcher's reach sails past your head.

You wonder how the players keep from getting hit. They must have eyes in the back of their heads.

CAP ANSON'S 1886 WHITE SOX STARTED THIS SPRING TRAINING BUSINESS OF NECESSITY!

Someone yells "heads up" and those in the danger zone seem to know instinctively whether the ball is coming their way. It seems a strange business that valuable players risk such constant danger.

Few get hit, but some do. A year or so ago Warren Giles, the business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, suffered a brain concussion when a foul tip from a hitter's bat struck him.

Off in the corner of the outfield players dash at a sawdust pit, leap, and throw their feet up in a hook slide. Then they get up and shake the sawdust out of their eyes like a pole-vaulter who has fallen from the high bar.

Manager A Busy Man

Some teams hold two-a-day work-out. The manager drifts from one group to another, watching the rookies drill. He gives a word of advice here and there and occasionally stops to demonstrate the right way to make a play.

Two Y Teams Will Meet Green Bay

Volleyballers and Swimmers to Show Here This Evening

The Y. M. C. A. volleyball team and Junior swimming team will participate in return engagements here with the Green Bay groups this evening. The volleyball match will start at 7:30 sharp while the swimming meet will start at 8 o'clock.

In their first encounter at Green Bay sometime ago, the volleyball team scored an easy 4 out of 5 victory while the swimming team lost by a heavy margin.

The Green Bay volleyball squad is a vastly improved team over the one that succumbed to Appleton in their first meeting and should make things interesting. Appleton, on the other hand, has showed marked improvement in the recent matches and workouts and is in fine fettle.

The killers will be Eugene Mulier, Carl Koletzke, Carleton Fuerst, Percy Menning and John Baugh while the setup men will be Robert Heiss, Carleton Zeigler, Dr. G. W. Carlson, Bert Norling and John Sjoelander.

The swimming team, although losing to Two Rivers on Tuesday night, is in excellent condition and stronger, having been strengthened by the addition of several new men. Although badly beaten at Green Bay two months ago, the squad believes tonight will be its night.

The swimmers will be Bud Sager, captain, Bud Thomas, Billy Morris, Stewart Cooper, Russell Piette, Doug Fox, Jim Miller, Leonard Colvin, Paul Kleist, Evan Pegal, Gerald Smyrnes and Jack Courtney.

Ben Hogan Slated to Win North-South Open

Pinehurst, N. C. — The path was smoothed today for Ben Hogan to turn what so far has been a promising golf career into a successful one with his first major tournament victory.

Ben himself had done the most vital something by posting a record total of 133 for the first 36 holes of the North-South open championship. That gave him a working margin of seven shots as the reduced field went into today's two closing rounds.

Tournament officials have sought to help him along in their own quiet fashion by placing him in the last threesome to leave the starting tee. That means that all the other returns will be in when Hogan comes marching home, and there'll be no possibility of his losing the $1,000 first money by not knowing what scores he had to beat to get it.

Chief figures in the race for also-ran honors, and the slim chance of catching Hogan, were Sam Snead and Johnny Revolta. They started this morning's third round seven shots back.

Training Camp Notes

By the Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS—To fortify their catching department since Joe Glenn has extended his holdout, the St. Louis Browns have signed George Susce, who was released unconditionally by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

San Bernardino, Calif.—Pitching woes again have beset Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs. Clay Bryant, who pitched only 31 innings last year but was believed recovered from his lame arm, complained yesterday of a new soreness. Vance Page also showed up with a sore arm and asked to be excused from today's assignment against Pittsburgh. Rookies Jake Moity and Vern Olsen have similar troubles.

Fort Myer, Fla.—A sensational relief hurler in 1938 and a complete flop in 1939, Johnny Humphries today declared himself a candidate for regular starting mound assignments with the Cleveland Indians this season.

Sarasota, Fla.—Dom Di Maggio is likely to be the only freshman wearing a Boston Red Sox uniform this season. Manager Joe Cronin, after looking over his rookies thoroughly, already has decided which will be included in the first squad out this week for the Durham and Rocky Mount farms. Most of the rookie survivors probably will wind up with Louisville or Little Rock next week.

Hollywood, Calif.—In Kirk Higbee's outright pitching the Phillies can draw some consolation from yesterday's 10-0 loss to the Cincinnati Reds.

Higbee allowed only one hit and no runner passed second.

Winter Haven, Fla.—A few more stunts of the kind young Dick Cougher has been pulling for the Detroit Tigers will make him a "spring sensation." Never in pro-ball before, the west coast ex-collegian has pitched nine scoreless innings and allowed only two hits.

Clearwater, Fla.—The Dodgers got more bad news than good yesterday. Although Dolph Camilli, the errant first baseman, signed, the Flatbush gang bowed to the Yankees and lost the services of shortstop and manager Leo Durocher, who left for Johns Hopkins hospital to see what's wrong with his ailing right arm.

Milwaukee — Marquette university's publicity office is oiling up its adjectives in behalf of Jimmy Caldwell, freshman "find" on the Golden Avalanche football squad which is now holding twice-a-week workouts in the Hilltop gymnasium. Caldwell, who aspires to a halfback assignment, weighs 121 pounds! He told Coach Paddy Driscoll that he's "the best blocking back in the midwest!"

Jerry Captain Is Finalist in YMCA Handball Tourney

Tops Winning Bracket; Eight More Matches Played in 2 Classes

Play in the double elimination singles handball championship in Classes A and B is advancing to the point where only a few matches remain before the finals. Eight matches were played during the past two days, two in Class A and six in Class B.

In Class A, in the winning bracket, Jerome Captain, present Class A champion, defeated Ed. Tourtellotte in two grueling games by scores of 21-20 and 21-17. In the losing bracket, in the sixth round, Arno Seifert defeated Lawrence Zimmerman, 21-13 and 21-6. Only two matches remain in Class A before the finals, Risch meeting Seifert, and the winner of that match meeting Tourtellotte for the right to play Captain for the championship.

In Class B, Kenneth Kitchen reached the finals by sending John Black over to the losing side of the bracket by winning a three game match, 21-15, 21-12 and 21-14. In the losing bracket, in the fifth round, Eugene Mullen defeated Paul Grady, 21-15 and 21-7. In the sixth round, Milton Schwandt eliminated Frank Kamps, 19-21, 21-7 and 21-16. In the seventh round, Milton Schwandt dropped Ray Houfek from further competition by winning, 14-21, 21-1 and 21-14. In the eighth round, Donald Powers eliminated James Williamson, seeded number two player, by winning 21-13 and 21-19.

Only four preliminary matches remain to be played before the finals. The winner of the Murphy-Mullen match plays Mil Schwandt. The winner of that match plays Donald Powers with the winner meeting John Black in the final game in the losing bracket. The winner of that match then plays Ken Kitchen for the Class B honors.

Driscoll Is Pleased With Hilltop Drills

Milwaukee — Coach Paddy Driscoll of the Marquette University football team expressed approval today with results obtained in gymnasium workouts for his squad but hoped for an early break in the weather so he could broaden the training sessions.

An average attendance of 50 candidates has been turning out for the gymnasium drills on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons for the past three weeks. Because of limited quarters, however, drills have consisted of calisthenics and light signal sessions.

"Spirit and physical condition are better now than they have been previously at this stage of the season in my four years here," the coach said. "Most of the boys are in good shape."

The coach hopes that weather will permit outdoor drills immediately after the Easter holidays. He plans six weeks of spring training. The coach expects to have 17 returning lettermen and several hold-overs to form the backbone of the squad.

Kimberly Bowlers Tip Two Appleton Quints

Kimberly—Two Kimberly bowling teams, Mellow Brews and Karl's Klub, defeated the Adler Brau and Barn Taverns of Appleton, respectively, on the Kimberly alleys this week. The Brews took two from the Adler Brau with O. Gossens having 233, 221 and 194 games for a 646 series. The keplers had a total score of 2,828. For the Braus, H. Strutz showed games of 204, 224 and 200 which netted a series of 628. The team rolled 2,765.

In taking two from Barn Taverns, Karl's Klub had Al Van Eyck rolling games of 191, 235 and 211 for a 637 series. The total for the Club was 2,866. For the Taverns, Winthrub collected 213, 205 and 214 games for a 632 series. The Taverns rolled a score of 2,600 pins.

Milwaukee—Marquette university trackmen are still moaning about their ill luck in the recent Illinois relay carnival. The Hilltop four-mile team sped that distance in 17 minutes, 47 seconds, to break the carnival record but the performance was good for only third place this time. Marquette's one-mile team had a big lead at the end of the second lap but a dropped baton spoiled the chance to win.

Good Manager and a Neat Left Build Paychek to Title Shot

BY L. E. SKELLEY
DES MOINES, IOWA—(P)—A little more than two years ago, Johnny Paychek, a baldish young man who won't be 26 until June 21, probably had a few ideas about meeting Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship of the world.

He had gone into retirement after a brief professional boxing campaign following sensational Golden Gloves performances. He was working at a small-pay job in Chicago, with little thought about returning to the heavy-weight wars.

But Harold Steinman, a suave manager, persuaded Johnny to come out to Des Moines where he would be handled by Pinkie George, a shrewd little promoter and manager.

So Johnny landed in the tall corn state to rebuild a boxing career. First, though, there was work to get Pinkie landed his new protegee in a hotel as a bellboy. That's how Johnny got his "Belling Bellboy" moniker.

Good Start
Paychek's first Des Moines appearance was in a preliminary against Max Steele in April, 1938. Johnny won in the second round by a knockout. His flashing, knife-like left cut Steele down with little trouble. The kid had it, the fans said.

Paychek moved up to top billing in a hurry under the maneuvering of promoter and co-manager George. He built a long string of victories, achieved mostly by knockouts throughout the next 12 months.

Although his opponents didn't rank among the leading heavyweights, they included some fairly good names. Al Ettore, Art Oliver, Carl Vinciguerra and Charley Masera.

Paychek's lightning left usually finishes his opponents. It's a slashing accurate weapon, not the hardest hitting in the business, but definitely a cutting instrument that has ruined most of his foes.

Bald Johnny's first reverse in 24 fights was a close newspaper decision to Maurice Strickland here last June.

He got that one back, though, by beating out a decision over Strickland six weeks later. That was his last Des Moines appearance. Steinman and George had a disagreement over financial matters (the two fights grossed close to $40,000, an Iowa record), and Pinkie announced he was relinquishing all interest in Paychek.

George went out and got himself Lee Savold, whom he is attempting to maneuver into a title shot. Steinman got his fighter there first, but George asserts Savold will get an outdoor shot at Louis providing the champ beats Paychek. Little Pinkie claims he isn't worried about that.

Paychek is a likable chap. On the intellectual side, he goes for poetry. His Polish ancestry gives him a natural interest in music and he plays a violin acceptably. Quiet, unassuming, Johnny is a tenacious battler in the ring. He's fast for a heavyweight and may give Louis an interesting evening.

Sewing Club Meets

At Shiocton Home

Shiocton—Mrs. Merl McCully was hostess to her sewing club at her home Tuesday evening. Members present included Mrs. Monroe Manley, Mrs. Kenneth Andrews, Mrs. Delbert Schwandt, Mrs. Royce Locke and Mrs. Donald Andrews. A lunch was served. Mrs. Kenneth Andrews will entertain the club in two weeks.

Mrs. M. A. Bidwell, who made an extended visit at the home of her daughter Mrs. Edgar Peep returned to her home at De Pere Tuesday. The Home Economics girls have finished decorating the rest room. The studio couch has a new cover. The window seat is repainted and covered and several new pictures have been added. The shop class has been working with harnesses. The boys clean and oil the harnesses and repair parts when necessary. The typing classes are working on a very interesting unit this week. As an English assignment last week they wrote business letters. This week they are typing them. The tenth number of the local high school paper, Chief Shiocton, was issued this week, with Miss Dorothy Grehn, commercial instructor, as adviser; David Brooker, editor-in-chief and Sylvia Hall, assistant editor.

Woman Can't Win Back Her Husband by Torturing Him

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—A very dear friend of mine has been married about eleven years. She has three children, a beautiful home, a car, pretty clothes, everything she wants except a faithful husband. About a year ago she found out that her husband had a girl friend and ever since she has made his home life a hell on earth. Fights with him from the time he comes home in the evening until he leaves for work the next morning. Says filthy things about the girl, which are not true and which makes him see red. Checks up on him every night when it is time to quit work until he gets home. Threatens to poison him if he doesn't break off with the girl. Goes into hysterics, screams and all but throws a fit. Has told her repeatedly that she is going about breaking off this affair the wrong way, but she insists that she is right. What do you think?

A FRIEND.

Answer:

Your friend must have singularly little knowledge of human nature if she thinks she can win back her husband by torturing him. Vinegar never catches flies, and no man willingly seeks the society of a virago who spends her time berating him for his faults and making scenes that fill him with repulsion for her.

It would seem that any woman who wasn't an absolute idiot would know that by such conduct she was simply driving her husband farther away from her and handing him over as a gift to the Other Woman. For she is forcing him to see her in the unlovely light of a shrew, a nagger and a killdeer, while the Lady Love is all sweetness and flattery.

Also, it would seem that any woman with a grain of reason left would realize that if she wanted to keep a faithful man, mated to his own fireside she must make him comfortable, attractive and cheerful, and not a Judgment Bar where he is called upon to answer for all of his sins and weaknesses. There is mighty little inducement for a man to return home to a tear-sodden wife, who spends her time bawling him out, when there are so many places and gay ladies to go to.

I am not defending the philandering husband, nor am I minimizing the sorrows of the neglected wife. I am only trying to say that the wife who thinks that she can bring her husband into loving her again or make him see her again as his Dream Girl by fighting with him, or that she can bring him back to his own hearthstone on her terms, makes the mistake of her life.

Men have a terror of scenes. They loathe being reproached for their faults. They hate weepy women who go about with a martyr's look. And it is because so many wives use these methods in trying to bring back their wandering spouses, that they fail. For the wife for a while to deal with a philandering husband is not by making herself disagreeable, but by being more attractive than the Other woman and making home the pleasantest place he can go to. Or else—

Love in a Cottage
Dear Dorothy Dix—My fiancé and I have been engaged for two years and we are very much in love with each other. At first we agreed that we would not marry until we could have a nice home, good furniture and a car, but now together. If we marry it will mean making a home in one or two rooms, pinching pennies and doing without many things we want. Do you think we dare risk marriage on such a shoestring? MARY.

Answer:
Your parents did. Haven't you as much intestinal fortitude as they had? They didn't wait until they could have houses and buggies and fine furniture and pianos and were able to give cocktail parties before they set up homes of their own. And they managed to be happy and bring up families without even hearing of radios and automobiles, electric stove, ice-boxes and beauty shops.

I don't see why it can't be done again, nor why any young couple who are healthy and strong and have jobs that will keep the wolf away from the door, should hesitate to marry and start life on the same plane that their parents did.

There can be a lot of happiness in a two-room flat, where a man and woman are working and hoping and planning together. I know a woman, whose husband is a multimillionaire and one of the most famous men in this country, who says that the happiest time

Can't Escape Squeeze Play If Done Right

BY ELY CULBERTSON

If squeeze plays were not held in such profound awe by average and lesser players, it is doubtful that they would enjoy their present high measure of success. Admittedly, a squeeze is inexorable on certain hands; properly executed, there is no escape for the defenders. But usually a declarer needs a certain amount of information from the enemy before he can determine the precise from his squeeze must take. It may be vital for him to know which suits are being held by each defender. In such cases, it is naturally highly desirable to present a false, rather than a true, picture. Consider declarer's dilemma in today's hand.

The bidding:

South West North East

4 no trump Pass 5 no trump Pass

7 diamonds Pass Pass

South, having located the missing two aces thru the 4-5 no trump convention, decided that with twelve tricks definitely established, there would be better better than an even chance of finding a thirteenth thru a fitting queen in North's hand, or a long card establishment or, failing those, a squeeze. (As a matter of theory, such reasoning was well founded. Most hands with twelve top tricks may be made to produce thirteen by an expert declarer.)

West made matters as difficult as possible by removing one of dummy's aces on his first lead, the heart king. With the particular distribution of dummy, declarer saw that his only hope was a squeeze. He ran off every trump, so that with five cards left to go the North-South cards were as follows:

NORTH

Now the real problem arose. West, on the last five trumps, had discarded two hearts, two spades, and one club; East had let go four hearts and two clubs. From declarer's viewpoint, it therefore appeared that the opponents' holdings were:

or, in brief, that West was guarding the club suit in addition to the high heart, while East had spades stopper. If that were true, only the lead of the king and small spade would effect a squeeze. On the latter play, West would have to let go his heart queen or unguard the club suit. So declarer proceeded to this attack. Good it blew up in his face! West calmly showed to the two rounds of spades, and East's club stopper remained intact. Obviously, had the defenders discarded in such a way that declarer could have read their five card holdings he would have laid down the ace and king of clubs, which would have squeezed West between the high heart and the spade suit stopper.

Style is stolen from a man's tuxedo in Cecilia Parker's dinner pajamas. The black wool trousers are distinctly of the mannish type and are accented with the satin stripe down the side. The actress tops the slacks with a soft white shirt, featuring long full sleeves. A wide cummerbund in bright red lends color to the ensemble and is repeated in the suede platform sandals in the same vivid shade.

Crisp black taffeta is the theme of Lana Turner's off-the-face bonnet that complements a dress of the same material. The crown fits close to the head and has a pleated brim extending in wide points from the temple to below the ears. A black ribbon anchors the hat and ties under the chin.

Some outdoor planting, confine your activities to sowing alyssum, anthriscum, bachelor button, calendula, candytuft, centurea, columbine, feverfew, forget-me-not, hollyhock, love-in-a-mist, petunia, portulaca, verbena and wild cucumber vine.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Most appropriate for an Easter gift of love are the bath aid companions delightfully scented with the fragrance of apple blossoms.

As Easter heralds a new season, when fresh life springs from the earth, and fresh hope enters all hearts, it is good to celebrate the day with gifts of love. And what could be a more fragrant gift of love to the woman you wish to honor, than an exquisite bottle of sweet fragrance?

All women love fragrances and all women cherish them to use as the final touch to meticulous grooming. A brisk, exhilarating cologne rub after a scented bath, or a refreshing spray of perfume on person and handkerchief, give any woman a sense of well-being. It also pleases the senses of those around her.

Easter week finds the most lovely perfume packaging of the year. Gay wicker Easter-egg arrangements with tiny bottles of rich aromas snuggled in colorful nests. Bottles tied with large satin bows, and gift boxes so beautifully designed that one decides instantly to find a use for them once their content has been enjoyed.

Change Your Fragrances
With the advent of spring you should change your fragrances. The heavier, more heady brews which delighted you during the cooler months should be sealed with adhesive tape and stored until next autumn. Fresh, lighter, floral-base mixtures are more in tune with the new season — and they complement the colorful gay additions to your wardrobe.

Most cosmetic firms now offer bathing aids, creams, face powders and perfumes all scented with the same fragrance. All firms have bath companions scented alike such as soap, bath powder, colognes, water softeners. They are proper for a woman without a man to do this.

Going To A Man's College

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm going to a dance at a well-known man's college. My host has written that he has made arrangements for me to stay with a private family, that all the private families in the town let out rooms to the boys on such occasions. Shall I make any effort to pay for this room before I leave or do I just take it for granted that he is taking care of this?

Answer: When you are ready to leave you might ask your landlady how much you owe her for the room. If she says that your friend has taken care of this, you let the matter drop. If, on the other hand, she tells you that she has been told that this will be one of those really painful moments when all you can do is to apologize as well as say thank you, and blame your own carelessness in not having made sure beforehand whether you were a lodger or a guest!

Emily Post's two booklets, "The Etiquette of Weddings," and "The Etiquette of Letter-Writing," really belong in every home. Send for them, enclosing ten cents for each one. Address Emily Post, in care of (this newspaper), P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

My Neighbor Says—
Sprinkle chopped dates, raisins chocolate shot or grated sweet chocolate nuts, coconut or candied fruit over the top of cake batter just before putting it into the oven. It will give the cake a tasty coating. Use half a cup of coating for the average-size cake.

To give a dull effect to furniture rub each piece with olive oil before applying polish. For a brighter finish wash the furniture with cold water applied with a soft cloth. Then polish.

Remember, only crisp crackers or wafers should be served with soups, salads or cheese. Often crackers in a fresh box need reheating for five minutes in moderate oven.

OVEN HEAT-SAVER
Here's two-favorite food combination that require but one baking. Core apples, stuff them with sausage and set them upright in a shallow pan. Add 1 inch hot water. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Baste 4 times with the liquid in the pan.

Women Alone
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct for a woman, or women alone, to wear evening dress at a theatre or concert? When my husband and I used to go to these same places and sit in these same seats, we always dressed. The question is whether it is proper for a woman without a man to do this.

Answer: Yes, just as proper now as before.

Good Taste Today
By Emily Post

ENGAGEMENT
NEVER, NEVER congratulate a woman on her engagement! Jokes and cartoons, have, for so long as living memory goes, seized upon this as meaning she is lucky to have found a husband. When this is said to a spinster of advanced years, it is naturally more noticeable than when said to a very young girl. This subject is brought up by a letter asking: "When going to a party given by the man's mother for his fiancée, should the guests congratulate the mother as well as the newly engaged girl?"

The answer to this is that congratulations are properly given only to the bridegroom-to-be. To his mother you say whatever comes naturally to mind. Something pleasant about both her son and the girl, or about whichever one you know best. To the girl you give your best wishes. If he is an old friend, you say whatever is pleasant and true. When you say good-bye to the hostess (if you do) you tell her something nice about the girl—that she is interesting or pretty or charming—whatever it was about her that impressed you most.

Children Need Just as Much Even if Funds are Limited

BY ANGELO PATRI

These are the days when everybody has to count pennies. Some of us have none to count, but the children need just as much as ever. They need to eat just as much, wear just as much, have just as much fun and make what they have stretch over the needs of their families. When the children demand money for shows, school clubs, trips to museums, money for candy and for treats, and there is none, mother feels defeated and depressed. She wants her children to have all they want, all they need at least. And as things are they cannot have necessities sometimes.

Older children can help their mothers a great deal by telling them that they understand the condition and that they will ask for nothing that means extra spending. They can help, too, by using their heads and their hands to help keep things more comfortable at home.

Feeling of Family Unity

Helping with the housework, lending a hand with the laundry, the mending, dishwashing, bed-making, all helps to relieve the overburdened mother, working together to keep home as happy and as comfortable as possible gives every member of the family something very precious. The feeling of family unity is going to make life happier, more successful, now and in days to come.

Going to school and staying there or as complete a school education as they can take helps the children. The free schools of America are the bulwarks of the nation. The need for individual culture, training, skill, service are constant. If the children keep going to school, and doing their best there, they are doing all that they can to help the family live through the trying times. And if they try to carry their share of the home difficulties, share the deprivations cheerfully, give up their pleasures without a murmur, so that father and mother know nothing about it, they are doing their full duty to home and parents.

All Should Help
These are the days when we must make little go far. Children must wear their clothes a little longer. They have to eat and enjoy one-dish meals very often, they have to provide their own entertainment instead of going to the movies and concerts they would love to attend. What if they use their intelligence and devote their love and understanding to lightening their father's and mother's load, they will come through the richer.

Some young people are disappointed at having to attend a public school, or an inexpensive parochial school, instead of the expensive, exclusive private school. They will know, very soon, that they are getting as fine an education, as fine a training, where they are, as they could have gotten anywhere else. Splendid men and women have been graduated from these schools. Many a man and woman, holding high places today were reared in hard times, attended public schools and were graduated from our free colleges. Why would not this generation do as well? They will.

It isn't the money. It's the intelligence and the spirit that counts. We'll come through this trial and the worst, while children whose parents made little go for much will come through, too. They always have.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Today I am presenting an excellent psychoanalysis of our traffic problem from one of America's foremost automobile authorities and safety experts. Since about 90 per cent of motor accidents are due to the drivers instead of to mechanical defects of the cars, our safety campaigns must be chiefly psychological.

CASE Q-116: Paul G., aged 43, is America's largest automobile company, and a champion of safer driving. "In 1922, I was chosen as one of a committee of 35 men to investigate the traffic problem in Los Angeles," he laughed in reminiscence as he addressed our Traffic Institute here at Northwestern.

"At that time things were in a muddle. We had few standardized methods to follow, but had to pioneer our way along. "One of the few traffic ordinances in the city pertained to the traffic law, he glibly told the policeman that he had a friend at court who would 'fix' it up for him.

"And this 'fixing' was no joke. In one of our largest American cities not 10 years ago it was estimated that about 70 per cent of the traffic cases were 'fixed'.

Building Respect For Law
"Obviously," it puts an unfair load upon the traffic policeman who are conscientiously doing their duty, when they find that the culprits laugh in their faces and even openly boast of their pull with the judge.

"On the other hand, when police are surly and bawl out a motorist, an officer is building disrespect for law.

"The police are really the shock troops regarding our attitude toward law and order. If they do their duty efficiently but politely, we have an honest admiration for law.

"If they exceed their authority however, and bawl out a motorist, they are instantly exceeding their authority as public employees of the taxpayer.

"Police men must remember that they are hired to protect our citizens and make arrests where and when indicated. But they are not paid to orate at American citizens.

What Did The Policeman Say?
"If a middle-aged man is exceeding the speed limit, and an officer stops him, does the policeman yell, 'Where the H— do you think you're going?' To a fire?"

"It is not an officer's job to belittle citizens or bawl them out. And an policeman who uses profanity on a citizen should instantly be hailed before his superior.

"Police men are public servants, employed by the citizens whose behavior they supervise. They can build up or tear down the public attitude toward law.

"Thanks to a reduction of 'fixing' of traffic tickets, an increasingly intelligent police force, and great safety, we are bringing down the accident rate greatly, but we can never expect perfection and an absolute elimination of danger."

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover trial and printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

BLOOD RUNS COLD
By Ann Demarest

YESTERDAY: The murder story is front page in the newspapers because Joan's father also died a violent death. Mary Ann tells Christine that Adrienne is terribly upset about something.

Chapter 22
Tim Lathrop
Mrs. Evans, attired in a flannel red and very unbecoming coolie coat, was at the top of the stairway glaring down at the very flushed and perspiring Sergeant Long. He was limping up to the second floor swearing at the top of his lungs. It seems that he had come back from the hospital and was on his way to Joan's room to poke around a little more. At the top of the stairs he caught his heel on the brass rim of the step and fell the whole flight.

I was surprised that he hadn't broken his neck, because he was a very heavy man. His ankle was wrenched badly, though, but that didn't prevent him from buttonholing a man who was coming up the stairway. I had to look twice at the man, who wouldn't have recognized Mr. Whitefield if it hadn't been for the heavy coat. He was the sort of man you could meet every day and never recognize. "Just a minute there," he caught Whitefield by the arm as he came up to the hall. "There's something I'd like to ask you."

"Why, Sergeant," the man said with mock politeness as he took off his hat, "you told me I could go out this evening."

"I know that," the Sergeant growled. "What I want to know is, why didn't you tell me about that quarrel Miss Wells had in the hall with that man Kincaid?" She left your apartment to see him."

"I tell you I don't know about any quarrel," Whitefield said. "What goes on here is none of my business." He swung past the Sergeant and proceeded up to the third floor.

Apparently the Sergeant's ankle was bothering him, so he didn't stop the artist. I propelled the officer into my room. Mrs. Evans departed with a disapproving snort after asking why he hadn't arrested Mr. Kimball and why wasn't there a police guard outside of her door.

BY ANNE ADAMS

A good housewife takes as much pride in her own tidy appearance as in keeping her home spotless and neat. Anne Adams' Pattern 4272 is just the thing to wear both at home and out-of-doors. It's simple to make, too with the Sewing Instructor. Stitch it up in fresh cotton and use either vivid ric-rac or crisp ruffling for trim. There is no waistline seam—just easy darts for smooth fit. Notice the youthful collar or make straight, smart points. And for added usefulness be sure to make the carry-all pockets. The front shoulders are neatly darted to hold the bodice tautness; the back bodice is both yoked and seamed for easy-shouldered freedom.

Pattern 4272 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 4 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 2 yards ric-rac. Send fifteen cents (15c) in coin for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

since she would undoubtedly be the next one to go.

"And if you haven't arrested Mr. Kimball," she called back as she waddled off, "I'd like to know what the delay is all about."

The Sergeant closed the door and came to the door. "That woman is going to drive me out of my mind. She acted so funny about her work when I asked her. Do you know what it is?" She sells corn, goes from door to door."

I wanted to laugh, but I was afraid he'd arrest me for making come of the law. Mary Ann, however, perched on the arm of a chair by the fireplace, giggled and said, "That woman is as susceptible as a cat."

FIRST MESSAGE

Not far from the southern coast of England is the Isle of Wight. In summer it shows a beautiful green landscape to travelers who pass it on their way to or from the port of Southampton.

To that island, in 1897, went Marconi. He had passed his 23rd birthday a few months before.

Wireless station at Signal Hill, Newfoundland, where first trans-Atlantic wireless message was received.

A pole 120 feet high was set up on the Isle of Wight. It held wires which were to be "antennas" or "aerials" of a wireless station. Another station was placed on the 60-foot mast of a steamer.

Tests were made day after day. The steamer sailed to a distance of several miles, and messages were sent across the water, from one station to the other.

Two years later a wireless message was sent from England to Italy. Some persons spoke of it as a "Marconi-gram," and in that way honored the young inventor.

Marconi was pleased by his success, but it wasn't enough to make him rest. Why not send a message across the ocean?

There seemed to be two good reasons against success in wireless across the ocean. One was the lack of a sending station with enough power to make a message go that far. Another was the belief that the roundness of the earth would make the "clicks" go off into space instead of reaching their goal.

As to the first reason, Marconi was ready with a plan. He built a powerful sending station in Cornwall, a county in southern England. There he placed men with orders to click out the letter "S" which was three dots in the Morse code. These dots were to be sent time after time, between the hours of 3 and 6 each afternoon during a certain period.

Then Marconi and two helpers sailed to Newfoundland. At a place known as Signal Hill, they set up a station to receive messages. A kite was sent to a height of about 400 feet and it took up an aerial wire.

Allowing for the time difference, Marconi listened for the dots. For half an hour there was no good fortune. Then came the clicks three dots in the Morse code--the letter "S." Again and again the letter "S" was clicked out.

That event happened on a December day in 1901. Marconi later sent long messages across the Atlantic. By these he proved beyond all doubt that he had conquered the ocean with wireless waves.

Pressure Growing For Investigation Of SEC-Lawrence

Congress Awakening to Broad Powers of Commission, Writer Says
BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Pressure for a comprehensive investigation of the Securities and Exchange Commission is growing. It is not at all due to maladministration in the sense in which the labor board has been subjected to scrutiny. It is due rather to an awakening in congress to the fact that broad powers of life and death over industry and finance have been delegated to governmental commissions and that few who voted for the statutes had the remotest idea the laws would be as far-reaching as they are.

Under a system of representative government, elected officials make the laws and the power to make regulations is given to boards and tribunals within specific limits. But these "regulations" are sometimes based on broadly written language in the law and the commissions figuratively shrug their shoulders and say, "Well, that's the law congress gave us to administer."

The theory back of delegation of power originally was that commissions and boards would use authority cautiously and with an idea of carrying out the intent of congress. But who is judge of what that intent really is?

The other day the general counsel of the Securities and Exchange Commission was testifying before a house committee and he flatly told the members that he thought he was a better judge of what congress intended to say in a certain statute which the S. E. C. enforces than were the members of the committee in question. The statement was subsequently denied and stricken from the official record, but that it was made is corroborated by members of the house who heard it.

MONTGOMERY IN UNUSUAL PICTURE

Given a story that defies all Hollywood formula, Robert Montgomery scores a spectacular success in the most unusual and exciting motion picture of the year, "The Earl of Chicago," which opens at the Appleton Theatre, Saturday for one week. The film is based on a situation as unique, dramatic, humorous and surprising as any ever brought to the screen, the story of Silky Kilmount, a Chicago gangster, who becomes an English Earl by inheritance. This is the first American picture brought to the screen by Victor Saville, British producer of "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and "The Citadel." The characterization is an adventure for Montgomery who gives an always convincing and fascinating portrayal in a role new to him. The supporting cast includes such stars as Edward Arnold, Reginald Owen, Edmund Gwenn, E. E. Cline and Peter Godfrey.

Heading this double feature is "Broadway Melody of 1940" starring Eleanor Powell and Fred Astaire.

Stretch Law
Again and again governmental commissions are claiming powers that are not to be found in the statute authorizing them in the first instance. Thus Senator Wagner in urging the labor relations bill which bears his name told his fellow senators that the law would not require an employee to sign any agreement of any kind. But the labor board now has stretched the law to mean just such a compulsion and one circuit court of appeals decision has upheld the board in interpreting the law so drastically.

When the senate labor committee itself made a report on the Wagner bill it said:
"The unfair labor practices are strictly limited to those enumerated in section 8. Unlike the Federal Trade Commission act, this bill is specific in its terms. Neither the board nor the courts are given any blanket authority to prohibit whatever labor practices that in their judgment are unfair."
But the labor board has ignored this "intent" of congress altogether, and yet there are members of congress now who refuse to allow the statute to be defined carefully because they fear the labor board's own bureaucratic power over their constituents or its political alliance with the CIO.

The Securities and Exchange Commission has raised an entirely different set of questions. The statute creating the S. E. C. was designed to protect investors, but not to regulate the flow of capital in industry. The New Dealers, however, have managed to interpret the law to mean that they can actually interfere in management processes. If congress intended any such thing, the record is barren of any such purpose. Some of the regulations and decisions of the S. E. C. endeavor to add to what the law says, interpretations which congress could never have had in mind. That's one reason why there's a movement afoot to investigate the S. E. C.'s decisions and regulations with an idea of ascertaining to what extent they have deviated from the original powers and to recommend a restriction of such regulatory powers.

It is most unfortunate that the S. E. C. has begun to answer attacks in the manner in which the labor board recently did, namely by attributing wrong motives to those who are seeking clarification of the law. It is easy, but not persuasive to contend that persons who want the laws changed want irresponsibility to return to the world of finance and investment. There was a time when liberal elements persuaded conservative elements in the financial world to accept the S. E. C. as a constructive force in the field of investment banking and marketing of securities. But today opinion is swinging almost unanimously against the S. E. C. because it has manifested political tendencies and has shown a disposition to seize on technical wordings of the law to grab power not intended by congress to be exercised by any board of five or three or one.

Congress is probably at fault in carelessly writing the laws. The smart boys in the "brain trust" put it over on the Democrats and privately chuckled over their achievement. Some of these brain trusters are clever enough to draw smokecreens, so that even President Roosevelt is bewildered by their array of polemical memoranda on alleged reforms. The time is arriving in the opinion of many members of congress when the law-making power must be recovered by the senate and the house, and the inevitable first step is the appointment of fair-minded committees to investigate methods and practices so that remedial legislation can be offered.

BLOOD RUNS COLD

By Ann Demarest

one of those neurotic women. And even though they weren't living together she was still jealous of him and hated Joan Kent."

"Then she couldn't have known that Joan was dead," I suggested, "because if it was jealousy there wouldn't have been any reason for her to try to drown him with Joan out of the way."

"Him," he said. "That's right." He lit a cigar and smoked in silence for a moment. Then he leaned forward. "But here's something. Maybe she killed Joan and then was afraid she might get caught. She decided to kill herself and her husband, too."

I shook my head. It didn't sound logical to me.

"Oh, Sergeant, I forgot to tell you something," Mary Ann said excitedly. "Last night a friend of mine, a girl, dropped in. She lives in the next block. She rang the bell downstairs and when there was no answer, tried the street door and it was open."

"Open?" The Sergeant sat up. "I thought it was always kept locked."

Mary Ann nodded. "It is, or at least it's supposed to be. And when I came home after twelve it was locked. Anyway, Kitty came upstairs and left a note for me, but I forgot all about it until this evening, so I called her."

"Did she know anything?" I asked her and she said that when she was walking down the hall on this floor she saw a woman come out of Joan Kent's apartment."

"What time did you say that was?"

"A little before eleven. She'd been to the movies and dropped in on her way home, so she was pretty certain about the time. The main picture was over about twenty-five of eleven."

The Sergeant groaned and leaned back in the chair. "I don't suppose she could describe the woman."

"She couldn't remember much about her except that she was tall and dark."

"That sounds like Mrs. Lathrop," the Sergeant said moodily. "But it sounds like two million other women in New York, too. She was here before eleven, I think, and was found after midnight in the river. In the meantime her husband was here, but he didn't stay very long."

He leaned forward and his eyes were resting thoughtfully on the fire. "What could she have been doing in the meantime and where did she and her husband meet up?" he mused.

Then he jerked his head up and said in a harsh voice, "With that street door open, anyone could have come in and done it."

A Handsome Man
Suddenly the room seemed hot and close with the pungent scent of wood burning. And I had a queer frightening sensation when I realized that last night the street door had been unlocked. Mary Ann was staring at the Sergeant, her hands clenched in her lap.

"Do you—do you suppose—?" The words choked in her throat. She looked frightened.

"She didn't have time to finish whatever it was she was trying to say, because Dirck leaned in the open doorway then, and asked if he could come in. There was a man standing behind him in the hall."

"Sure, come in," The Sergeant got up and limped around, trying his foot gingerly. "Hello, Lathrop."

For some reason I'd pictured Tim Lathrop as thin and pallid, a little down at the heel, with a flowing tie and hair. It was quite a shock to find him as different from that as you could imagine. He was pale, but shock and submergence accounted for that. From his right eye well back over his thick brown hair he was bandaged. And even that didn't detract from his good looks. He was one of the handsomest men I've ever seen.

When Dirck introduced us, though, Tim Lathrop spoke almost listlessly. His voice was low and held an unexpected warmth and his gray eyes were deep and penetrating. Mary Ann, I noticed, was all of a flutter over him.

"I got part of your story from the officer," the Sergeant said, "but I want to hear it from you. When did you meet your wife last night?"

He faced Tim Lathrop, who had seated himself on the low stool close to the fireplace. And Dirck sat down on the arm of my chair. Tim Lathrop started haltingly, as though he were having a difficult time gathering his thoughts. "When I left the house, Louise, my wife, was waiting for me. Her car was parked a few doors down the street in front of the laundry. When she got out of the car and came towards me I could see that she was upset about something. I had to get into the car to avoid a scene because the minute she laid eyes on me she started to quarrel. She was raving—a mad woman," he paused and his eyes sought the Sergeant's wretchedly.

"It must have been hard for him to talk before all of us. After all, even though he had been separated from her, she was still his wife, and he seemed a pretty sensitive person."

"What time did you leave the house?" the Sergeant asked.

"It must have been about half-past eleven. You see, I left the shop, thinking I'd go back to the hotel, and then I decided to go up to see Richard, so I came in the house door and went upstairs." The Sergeant looked at him intently. "Richard wasn't here last night, was he?"
